JOHN ROBINSON

Head Football Coach

John Robinson is a man who acts quickly.

He thinks fast, walks fast, talks fast and coaches even faster. In his first year as a head coach, he won 11 straight games, upset Michigan in the Rose Bowl and guided the Trojans to a No. 2 ranking in both final wire service polls.

A rookie head coach hadn't brought a Pac-8 team to the Rose Bowl in 25 years. And to top that, Robinson is the first rookie head coach from the Pac-8 to win the Rose Bowl game in 61 years — since William H. Dietz did it for Washington State in 1916, in the second Rose Bowl ever played.

For his success, Robinson's fellow coaches voted him Pac-8 Coach of the Year and District IX Coach of the Year.

In guiding the Trojans to Pasadena and winning, the 42-year-old Robinson fulfilled a goal he set before his first season. He noted USC had been 8-4 in John McKay's final year, missing the Rose Bowl.

"Every player who comes to USC expects to be a champion," said Robinson. "And that's our goal. We want to be a champion again."

"In fact, we're not only shooting for the Rose Bowl, we're shooting for the national championship, too."

The Trojans came close to their second goal, winning those 11 straight games following a stunning upset loss to Missouri in the opener, and finishing 11-1.

After the first game, Robinson had patiently answered reporters' questions, cheered up Trojan boosters and then snapped the next day to his team and staff, "That will never happen to us again."

"We're living proof that you can't just think you're talented and walk onto the field expecting to play well."

"I think we all — myself included — recognize more than ever that the difference between success and failure is not very much. We all took some things for granted, but we'll be the best prepared team in the country from now on."

"If we ever relax again, we ought to be taken out and shot at sunrise."

For 11 straight games the Trojans never relaxed, outscoring 11 victims, 361 to 93.

Besides climbing near the top of the polls, Robinson fulfilled another promise he made when he took over from McKay, who had guided USC to eight Rose Bowls and four national titles.

"John McKay's great USC teams were very well balanced offensively," he said, "but in 1975 the quarterback position was a failure."

"For many years the USC tailback has been the best single position in college football. Now we want to create a similar environment for the quarterback. We're going to make the quarterback position more successful."

And he did.

In 1975 Vince Evans and Rob Hertel combined to pass for only 4 touchdowns and 910 yards, completing 35 per cent of their attempts. In 1976 Evans and Hertel threw for 18 touchdowns and 1892 yards, hitting 56 per cent. They completed 125 passes to 49 the previous year and even threw less interceptions, 8 to 10.

Along the way, the Trojan running game was as potent as ever, averaging 5 yards a carry.

In fact, USC wound up third in the nation in total offense (based on regular season figures), rolling up 432.5 yards a game, and third in scoring with 33.8 points a game.

But John Robinson is not a one-dimensional coach.

"We'll move the ball," he said before his first season, "but no one wins a championship without a good defense. We intend to have one."

The Trojans pinched off five opponents without touchdowns, blanking three. They shut out UCLA, the second leading scoring team in the country at the time, for the first 56 minutes of their Rose Bowl showdown. And they held Michigan, the national leader in total offense and scoring, to 217 yards and 33 points UNDER the Wolverines' average.

Born in Chicago (July 25, 1935) and raised in San Mateo, California, Robinson went to grammar school with Oakland Raider coach John Madden. He later served as the best man in Madden's wedding.

At San Mateo's Serra High, John played football and baseball, winning Catholic All-American and All-Northern California honors at end for the football team.

At Oregon — where he received a 1958 bachelor's degree in education — John was a letterman end when the Ducks won the Pacific Coast Conference championship in 1957. He played briefly in the 1958 Rose Bowl against Ohio State (a 10-7 loss).

When he took over as coach at USC, John was as well prepared for his job as All-American Ricky Bell was to play tailback. He brought with him 16 years of full-time coaching experience — 12 as an assistant at Oregon (1960-1971), 3 as McKay's offensive coordinator at USC (1972-74) and 1 as backfield coach of the Oakland Raiders (1975).

The coach and his wife, Barbara, now live in La Habra, California, with their two daughters, Teresa, 17, and Lynn, 16; and two sons, David, 14, and Christopher, 10.

John Robinson Recalls '76 . . .

John, you're in your second year as head coach. Do you love the job as much as you did when you took over?

"Definitely. Last year was the most exciting one of my life. I think we accomplished a lot, and we had fun doing it."

You were 11-1 and ranked second in your first season. Can you and your staff stay as hungry as you were a year ago?

"I hope so. You know, in the offseason there's no way to define how hard you're working, or how well you're performing your job. But I think one of the great things in any field is trying to do a given task as well as you possibly can. We certainly didn't do that last year.

"I mean, we can perform better than we did last season. Now, I do think the USC football team did very well and came very close to its potential. But we can come closer. At least we can try. Now, I think that's hard to do, but it's a great challenge. You should always look ahead to what you're going to do next.

"And actually, what happened last year is a long time ago. The memory and the pleasure of what happened fade . . . fade very quickly."

In 17 years of coaching, you've seen teams with high hopes turn out disappointing. Does this mean you have to keep pushing yourself and your staff?

"Yes, it's a constant thing. When you assume you have the discipline to work as hard as you did before without extra effort, you're just kidding yourself. You have to recognize that there's a tendency for everyone to slack off with success.

"Now, the hunger of survival is a great motivator, but you've got to work at that motivation of your staff and team. To assume you've got it is the first step toward defeat."

What was the greatest disappointment in your first season?

"Losing our first game. There was tremendous disappointment not just in losing, but in somehow not being ready for it. As you think back, we would have been the national champions if we'd won that game (against Missouri).

"From the Missouri game on, we were as intense and as hard working a football team as I've ever been associated with. I thought we were that way before Missouri last year, but apparently we weren't. It teaches you that a team has to be as intense as you can from the first day of practice."

Was the pressure of being a head coach as tough as you thought? Or tougher?

"There's obviously pressure, but I don't know that there's so much on a man in this position that it's unbearable. I think sometimes we overplay the amount of pressure. I still think it comes from you trying to perform your tasks to your maximum ability.

"Outside pressures you can control. You can control how many phone calls you answer, for example. If you allow those things to overwhelm you, you're guilty of poor organization. The key is to have a plan and make sure you follow it. I like to hope I have the ability to control the amount of pressure other people exert on me.

"Now, of course, we had a successful season. If you're 1 and 10, or a lot of other things on your squad are going wrong, I would assume you would feel awfully harassed."

How about the pressure of preparing for a big game?

"That's the excitement in this job . . . the mixture of fear and anticipation before playing a good opponent. That's why it's so much fun to play a Notre Dame or UCLA, or get a chance to play a team like Michigan in the Rose Bowl.

"We started looking at Michigan three weeks prior to that game, and we were in a state of fear the whole time. They were a very, very good team, and the excitement of knowing you have to come up with a great effort to beat them is some of the best pleasure of coaching.

"I almost felt a sense of sadness when the game was over, because I admired them so much, I thought it was a hard-hitting, good game, and I liked the anticipation of could we stop them, or could we move the ball, or could we score against their goal line defense. It was a great experience."

Is that why men become football coaches?

"Well, any time you're involved in creating something, it's exciting. And the Rose Bowl sticks out because you have three or four weeks, rather than one, to prepare, so you can dwell longer on the creativity.

"Think of the drama in creating a plan that has to be involved with a counter-plan by your opponent—an opponent whose physical skills are equal to yours—and then throw in that 70 million people will see you do it."

When you're down there on that sideline, do you ever feel all those people watching you?

"Sure. I don't think anybody concentrates so much that he forgets everybody. If somebody ran up behind you and pulled your pants down, you'd be embarrassed. You don't have complete isolation.

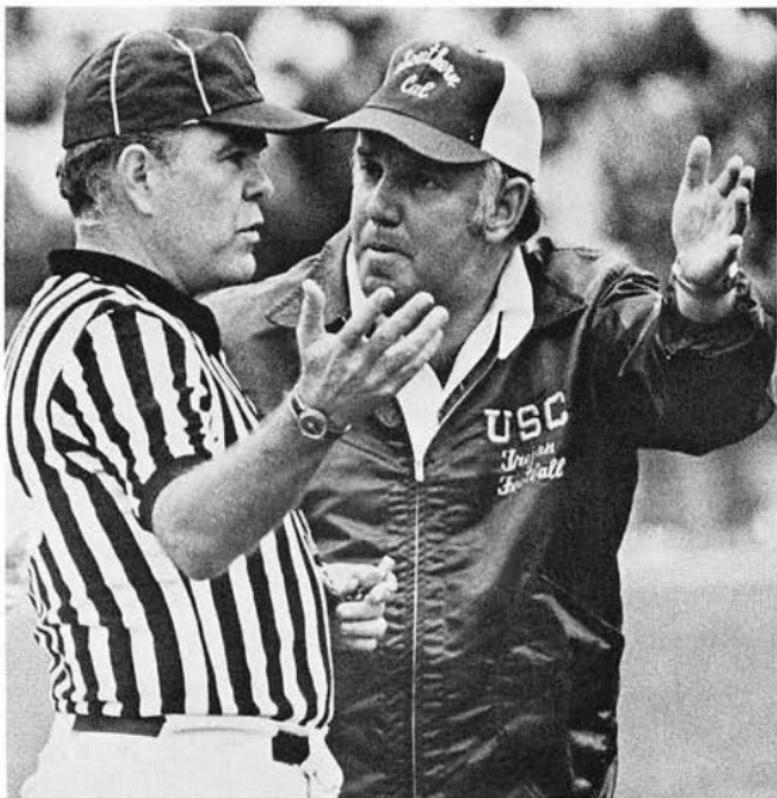

"But I think that adds to it. I don't feel those people are looking at me judging whether I'm going to make the right decision or not. I see them as with us—as part of the whole scene. Certainly the energy and feeling generated by the fans is a great stimulus to us."

One of your main goals last year was to make the quarterback position more successful—and you did. Vince Evans and Rob Hertel doubled their passing yardage and threw 14 more TD passes. Can you continue to improve on that?

"I think so. If an offense doesn't continue to grow each year, it will deteriorate. You have to refine what you do. I feel we should improve as much this year as we did last year."

Really? You were the third-leading scoring team in the country in 1976, and third in total offense.

"Well, I don't know if our improvement would show up in total statistics. Statistics are often misleading. They pile up in lopsided games. But you must really evaluate your offense in the four or five key games you play. You know, the question is: how did you do against Michigan?"

Do you still believe as strongly in the I-formation?

"Yes. The I creates tremendous opportunities for a great runner. It creates a very strong power running attack, and you can run it equally to both sides, strong and weak side. Its advantages are unmatched in that area.

"But there are limitations to every formation, be it the I, or the Veer, or whatever you have. In the I, for example, the number of pass receivers you can quickly get out is limited, because the tailback is so deep. It's easier from a split back formation.

"I'd say we used the I about 70 to 75% last year, and I'd assume we'd do it again. We were probably less of an I team than at any recent time in USC history. But often it went unnoticed, because people just assumed we were always in the I."

USC also did well defensively last year. What's the most important thing in building a great defense . . . speed?

"Speed is one of the key physical requirements, but balance, mobility, strength—all those things are important, too. Speed becomes talked about so much because you can see it and measure it. And when you've got it, boy, it's impressive.

"But one of the biggest problems in defense is organizing 11 people into a single unit. The offense can get in the huddle and say, 'Okay, we're gonna do this,' and go up there and attempt to do it. But the defense has to take most of its stimulus from an offensive movement.

"So defense is reaction. And for people to react as a unit is more complicated than for people to act as a unit."

You lost 12 starters off last year's team, including some players who had been great athletes at USC for a long time. Aside from losing their ability, was there a sadness, too, in losing them as people?

"Yes, very much so. Ricky Bell, for example, departed to a great future, but it's hard to see a guy you admire so much leave. When people move on, there's a lot of feeling involved. I think all coaches feel that, and there are some very emotional goodbyes at the ends of seasons.

"But now there's a Charley White coming along at tailback, and a Lynn Cain, and many others. It's sad, but the void is quickly filled."

During both of your spring practices, you've let anyone who wanted to watch come on in. Are you still happy with that?

"I love it. I wish we could practice right in the middle of the campus.

"I mean, I like the idea of people looking at our team and feeling that it belongs to them. The team doesn't belong to me, and it doesn't belong to the athletic department. It belongs to the people of USC — the students, the alumni, the people who care.

"I want our fans to recognize that it's their team. Then they'll have a tangible feeling for it. They can physically go out and see it, get to know the players and coaches and see we're not unapproachable."

Do the players enjoy it?

"I think they love it as much as I do. We all like to do what we do well with somebody watching and approving.

"We let the people wander around at practice — and they get in the way some of the time — but anything we can do to increase our accessibility to the rest of the university is a positive thing."

Do you still feel as strongly about USC as you did when you took the job?

"Yes, USC is a special place. It's a great university, and the people that have gone here, or are here now, believe the chance to be at USC is unique. They believe this is an exceptional place for a young man, or a young woman to go to school . . . and that there's a lasting benefit from attending this university.

"There are friendships at USC and loyalties to this school that amaze me, and being part of it I consider one of the real privileges of my life. There's a great tradition, and it's not just athletics. Football isn't the only part of this tradition; the tradition runs throughout the university. But I do feel, as USC president John Hubbard has said, 'Sometimes football is the glue that holds all of that tradition together.'

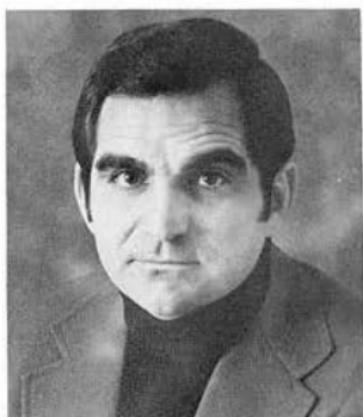

"I genuinely believe that the chance for a young man to come to this school and play for it is a unique experience. But I also believe we must do the best possible job of making sure those players get a wide experience at USC, and we must advise them and motivate them academically as much as we can.

"We have to make sure, too, that football is in its proper level, that it doesn't become bigger than life, and that it remains in a position where it's a source of pride to the rest of the university."

ASSISTANT COACHES

MARV GOUX

Assistant Head Coach
Defensive Line

Marv Goux, now 45, has become a USC legend.

Recently named assistant head coach by John Robinson, Goux is in his 21st year as a USC coach. Long considered one of the nation's more inspirational coaches, Marv was one of only two assistants to work the entire John McKay era, when the Trojans won four national titles and went to eight Rose Bowls.

Goux first became a USC assistant back in 1957 under Don Clark. For three years he was both head freshman coach and varsity assistant, before moving up to the varsity full-time when McKay took over in 1960.

Except for a season as a high school coach, Marv has been a Trojan since 1952, when he started at linebacker for the USC Rose Bowl team that blanked Wisconsin, 7 to 0. Before he was through as a player, Goux had started three years, including 1954 and 1955, when he went both ways, performing at both linebacker and center.

Small at 5-10 and 185 pounds, Goux made up for his lack of size with quickness and great desire. He is one of just two Trojans to twice win the Davis-Teschke Award, given annually to USC's most inspirational player. Marv won that honor in 1954 and 1955, after coming back from a back injury that sidelined him for all of 1953. He was also elected co-captain in 1955.

Following graduation, Marv returned to Ventura County and spent one year as head coach at Carpinteria High School. His team reeled off a 9-1 record and went to the 1956 small school CIF finals.

DON LINDSEY

Defensive Coordinator
Inside Linebackers

At 34, Don Lindsey is considered one of the most innovative young coaches in the country with a solid background in both offense and defense.

He was recently named USC's defensive coordinator by head coach John Robinson, who gave him a great deal of the credit for the 1976 USC defense that allowed just 93 points in the last 11 games.

Now in his seventh year on the USC staff, Lindsey has already coached under Bear Bryant at Alabama, Frank Broyles at Arkansas, and, of course, five years under John McKay at USC. Don was one of four assistants who decided to stay at USC when Robinson took over.

Lindsey began his coaching career at Alabama under Bryant in 1965, spending two seasons as offensive and defensive backfield coach, respectively, while also earning his master's degree in education.

While Lindsey was at Alabama, the Crimson Tide won the national championship in 1965 and wound up ranked third in 1966 while compiling an 11-0 record. Don coached quarterback Scott Hunter who broke several of Joe Namath's passing records.

From Alabama Lindsey went to Montana State where he served as defensive coordinator under Jim Sweeney in 1967. He then moved to Washington State with Sweeney for the 1968 and 1969 seasons, serving as offensive coordinator.

Before coming to USC in 1971, Don spent one year at Arkansas under Broyles, where he coached the defensive backs. He was born September 17, 1943 in Camden, Arkansas.

PAUL HACKETT

Quarterbacks, Receivers

In only four years as a full-time assistant coach—three at California and the 1976 season at USC—Paul Hackett has already built a national reputation as an outstanding teacher of the passing game.

Working in John Robinson's new look passing game last season, Hackett coached Vince Evans and Rob Hertel and increased their pass completions from 49 to 125, their yardage from 910 to 1,892, and their touchdown passes from 4 to 18. The most startling turnaround was with Evans whose completion percentage went from 31% to 54%.

The 30-year-old Hackett was one of four new Trojan coaches hired by Robinson shortly after he took over. At California, he had coached All-American quarterback Steve Bartkowski, the nation's leading passer in 1974; and the late Joe Roth, the Pac-8's total offense and passing leader in 1975.

The NFL's first draft choice in 1975, Bartkowski passed for 2,580 yards and 12 TD's in 1974, completing 56% of his passes, with only 7 of 325 tosses intercepted.

In 1975 Roth came to Cal from junior college and under Hackett's direction passed for 1880 yards and 14 TD's, completing 53.4%.

Paul was a quarterback himself at the University of California at Davis, where he was a three-year starter and led the Far Western Conference in passing as a senior. He was first team all-conference his last season.

He coached three years at U.C. Davis, assisting with the freshmen one season and then directing the frosh to a combined 13-0 record in 1970 and 1971.

Born July 5, 1947, Hackett earned a bachelor's degree in history at U.C. Davis and a master's in physical education at Sacramento State.

HUDSON HOUCK

Offensive Line

When John Robinson became USC's head football coach in 1975, the first man he hired was Hudson Houck.

The 34-year-old Houck came to USC after four years at Stanford, the last three as offensive line coach (1973 to 1975), but it was also a homecoming. He was a former Trojan player and freshman coach.

Born January 7, 1943,

Hudson played and coached under John McKay. He was a reserve center on the national championship Trojan team of 1962, then started the last four games and lettered in 1963. Heavily counted on in 1964, Houck injured his back and played sparingly, the bad back keeping him from lettering.

A 1965 graduate of USC with a bachelor's degree in physical education, Houck was an assistant football coach and teacher at Crescenta Valley High School in 1967 and 1969. His career was interrupted twice by service in the Army.

Hudson came back to USC the first time in 1970 and spent two seasons as head freshman coach and varsity graduate assistant. His 1971 Trojans — USC's last freshman team — went 4-0 and boasted such stars as Anthony Davis, Pat Haden, Richard Wood, Johnny McKay, Charles Phillips, Allen Carter and Marvin Cobb.

JOHN JACKSON

Offensive Backs

When John Robinson became head coach and went searching for a backfield coach, he went all the way to Illinois. That's where he found personable John Jackson, six years an assistant for one of the nation's winningest coaches, Bob Blackman.

Now 41, Jackson helped produce a Trojan running game that rolled up 3,212 yards and averaged five yards a carry in 1976.

Jackson first joined Bob Blackman at Dartmouth in 1970, coaching the backs and receivers for a team that went 9-0-0. When Blackman moved to Illinois in 1971, he took Jackson with him, and for five seasons, John coached the backfield for the Illini.

Previously, in 1968 and 1969, Jackson was offensive coordinator for the football team and head coach of the track team at Hofstra.

He had a successful high school career, coaching Boys High School in Brooklyn from 1965 to 1967, where he was twice named New York metropolitan Coach of the Year and led Tech to the city championship in 1966. While coaching at Boys High, he was also Dean of Students at his old school, Brooklyn Tech.

A 1956 graduate of NYU, Jackson earned bachelor's and master's degrees there in physical education.

He was a five-year teacher and assistant football coach at Brooklyn Tech, served in the Marines three years (attaining the rank of captain) and then moved on to Boys High. A Brooklyn native, John was born February 4, 1936.

JOHN MARSHALL

Outside Linebackers

John Marshall, the newest member of John Robinson's staff, becomes the fifth coach to make what has become a familiar move: going from Oregon to USC as an assistant coach.

It's proved successful in the previous cases of John McKay, John Robinson, Bruce Snyder (Utah State head coach) and Norv Turner (now a full-time aide).

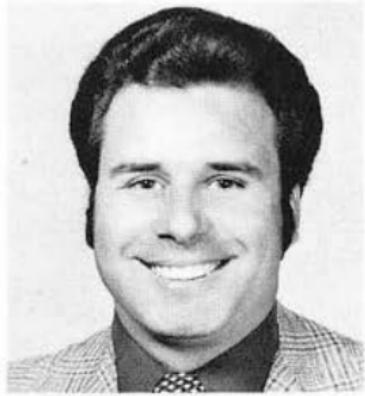

Marshall who will work with the outside linebackers, was an assistant coach at Oregon for eight years, serving his first three as the frosh mentor and the last five tutoring the offensive line.

Previously, the 31-year old Marshall had served two seasons as a student assistant coach. He had played frosh football at Washington State, but his career was cut short by a neck injury. He then transferred to Hancock Junior College and from there to Oregon, earning a B.S. in Health Education in 1969.

John was a three-year letterman in football and baseball at Arroyo Grande High School and earned All-CIF honors as a tackle and linebacker. He also lettered one year in wrestling.

BOB TOLEDO

Secondary

Bob Toledo, 31, is one of those rare combinations in football — a great athlete who also became a successful coach.

Just before coming to USC as one of John Robinson's four new assistant coaches, Toledo led University of California at Riverside to successive undefeated league championships (CCAA).

And as a quarterback at San Francisco State, Toledo was not only a College

Division All-Division in 1967, but he set and still holds eight NCAA passing and total offense records.

Bob's NCAA records, all set in 1967, include most touchdown passes in a season (45), most yards passed for in a single game (568), most yards passed for in a season (3,513), most passing yards gained per game (351.3) and highest total offense in a season (3,407 yards).

Before transferring to San Francisco State for the 1966 and 1967 seasons, Toledo earned JC All-American honors as quarterback at San Jose City College in 1965, after starting for the San Jose State freshmen in 1964.

Following a brief trial with the San Francisco 49ers in 1968, Toledo began his coaching career at San Francisco's Riordan High, where he served one year as an assistant and three seasons (1970 to 1972) as head coach. He guided Riordan to a 26-5-1 record and won two West Catholic Athletic League championships.

Moving to U.C. Riverside in 1973, Toledo was the offensive coordinator for an 8-2 team that was fourth in the nation in total offense. As Riverside's head coach in 1974 and 1975, Bob turned in 8-3 and 7-3 records and finished ninth and sixth in the nation in total offense (NCAA Division II). His 1974 team was also 10th in defense nationally.

NORVAL TURNER

Receivers, Special Teams

Former Oregon quarterback Norval Turner once threw a touchdown pass against USC. Now he coaches the Trojan receivers.

The 25-year-old Turner was a part-time coach on John Robinson's first staff in 1976, and he so impressed his boss with his hard work and ideas that he replaced Skip Husbands as a full-time assistant in the spring of 1977. (Husbands left for pro football.)

Currently ninth on Oregon's all-time passing list with 1,807 yards and 11 touchdowns, Turner lettered three years for the Ducks, started as a junior and senior and was named co-captain as a senior.

USC's national champions barely defeated Oregon and Turner, 16-7, in 1974 in a game made closer by Norv's 45-yard second quarter touchdown pass to Greg Bauer.

Born May 17, 1952, Turner was a quarterback and defensive back at Alhambra High in Martinez, California, going both ways as a senior and leading his team to a 9-0 mark and league championship.

Turner's best year at Oregon was his final one when he threw for 1,261 yards, completing 99 of 202 passes. He was named ABC-TV's Player of the Game in a regionally televised 27-23 victory over Air Force.

Norv graduated from Oregon in 1975 with a bachelor's degree in history, and spent one year as a graduate assistant on the Duck staff, coaching receivers on the varsity and quarterbacks and receivers on the JV's.

MIKE HALUCHAK

Linebackers, Secondary

Ex-USC linebacker Mike Haluchak begins his second year as a part-time coach on the USC staff. Besides his coaching duties, he handles the weight training program.

Haluchak was a three-year letter winner for the Trojans from 1968 thru 1970. He was named UPI All-Coast honorable mention in 1969.

Following his college career, he tried out with the Los Angeles Rams in 1973 and was the last linebacker cut, then played the 1974 season in Canada with the British Columbia Lions.

Mike grew up in Concord, Calif. and was Athlete of the Year his senior season at Clayton Valley High School in Concord. He was All-Contra Costa County as a linebacker in football and also performed in the shot put and discus in track.

The 27-year-old Haluchak received his teaching credential from USC in 1972. He coached football and track at Baldwin Park, Elsinore, Duarte and Royal High Schools one year each before joining the Trojan staff.

RICH OLSON

Offensive Line

Former Washington State quarterback Rich Olson is in the first year as a part-time coach on the Trojan staff.

Olson lettered two years at Washington State in 1968 and 1969 after transferring there from Harbor Junior College in Wilmington. He was All-Western States Conference at Harbor and also won All-Conference honors the previous year at Menlo

Rich was Pacific League Player of the Year as a senior at Montebello High School where he also was All-League in basketball and a third baseman on the baseball team.

Following graduation from Washington State, the 29-year-old Olson served as a graduate assistant football coach for one year there. He coached at Gahr High School in Cerritos for five years prior to joining his college mentor, Jim Sweeney, last year as defensive backfield coach at Fresno State.

ATHLETIC STAFF

DR. RICHARD H. PERRY Athletic Director

—while Dick has impressed everyone with his sharp organizational skill.

In the last two years Dick has met with more people, made more speeches, answered more urgent phone calls and solved more problems than anyone this side of a presidential candidate.

When he was appointed athletic director by USC president Dr. John Hubbard in November 1975, Dick was an associate professor of physical education at USC, a post he had held for eight years. He had also been involved in the university leadership. A member of the faculty senate for six years, he served as president of that body in 1974-75.

And, of course, he brought a strong background in athletics to his new job. Before coming to USC, he was head basketball coach at California State University, Long Beach, for nine years and also spent three seasons there as assistant football coach.

In 1975-76, he served as president of the Southwest District of the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education and Recreation. He was president of the California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation in 1971-72.

When Dr. Perry became head basketball coach at Long Beach in 1958, there was no scholarship help and the team was playing exclusively small colleges. He built the program to a level where the 49ers were playing intersectional games with such teams as Oklahoma State, Wichita State and Creighton and playing doubleheaders with USC and UCLA.

His Long Beach team reached the finals of the College Division Western Regional playoffs in 1960.

Dick left Cal State, Long Beach when offered an associate professorship at USC in 1967 and received his Ph.D. degree from USC in 1968.

The athletic director was born July 13, 1929. He graduated from Long Beach Wilson High School and received his bachelor's degree from the College of Emporia in Kansas in 1951 and his master's degree from Kansas State Teachers College.

Dr. Perry and his wife, Donna, live in Garden Grove. They have four children: Jim, 26, a graduate of USC and now a coach at Crescenza Valley High School; Joan 21, a USC junior; John, 19, a sophomore at USC; and Janelle, 11.

In the athletic director's office at USC there's no hint of an energy crisis.

In just two years on the job, 48-year-old Dick Perry is off to a fast start in administering a program that now has 22 teams — 14 men's and 8 women's.

Given his constant support, Trojan teams have won seven national championships in the Perry era—five men's and two women's —while Dick has impressed everyone with his sharp organizational skill.

In the last two years Dick has met with more people, made more speeches, answered more urgent phone calls and solved more problems than anyone this side of a presidential candidate.

VIRGIL LUBBERDEN Associate Athletic Director

Around Christmas time every year, there is someone almost as busy as Santa Claus. He's Virgil Lubberden, one of USC's three associate athletic directors.

Besides his USC duties, Lubberden is the game manager for the Rose Bowl, the granddaddy of all the New Year's Day classics. He made his Rose Bowl debut as manager in 1963 when USC beat Wisconsin in that memorable 42-37 game. After several years of alternating as Rose Bowl manager with his UCLA counterpart, Virg was named to the position permanently in 1973.

In his 14th year of managing USC's athletic affairs, Lubberden became an associate athletic director two years ago. He had served as an assistant athletic director the previous three years.

As the business manager, Virg formulates the USC athletic budget that covers 21 sports. He also arranges all team travel, prepares contracts with opponents in all sports and negotiates rental fees with the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for football and Sports Arena for basketball.

His other responsibilities include the purchase of athletic medical insurance, negotiation for radio and television coverage, supervision of game management for home events and assisting in the scheduling of football opponents.

A USC graduate, Lubberden received his bachelor of science degree in business administration in 1949.

NICK PAPPAS Associate Athletic Director

Nick Pappas is the man behind USC's strong, active athletic support groups. He has served at USC for nearly 25 years and built the Trojan athletic support group into the most successful organization of its type in the nation.

Born in Seattle, Pappas entered USC in 1934 and lettered three years as a tailback for Coach Howard Jones. Following his graduation in 1938, he spent two years in law school and also assisted the Trojan frosh under Julie Bescos in 1936 and Gus Shaver in 1939. He played pro football with the Hollywood Bears in 1938 and 1939.

He scouted for pro clubs for six seasons and for USC two years before becoming a Trojan assistant football coach in 1953. He assumed duties as alumni field secretary in 1957 and became the Director of Trojan Club Affairs and Athletic Fund-Raising in 1959. Two years later, he became Assistant Director of Planning. Since 1962, he has been Director of Athletic Funding consisting of Trojan Club, Cardinal and Gold, Trojaneers, Football Alumni Club, Trojan Coaches Club and Women's Trojan Club.

BARBARA HEDGES Associate Athletic Director

In 1974, USC expanded its women's intercollegiate athletic program by naming 39-year-old Barbara Hedges as a full-time assistant athletic director in charge of women's athletics.

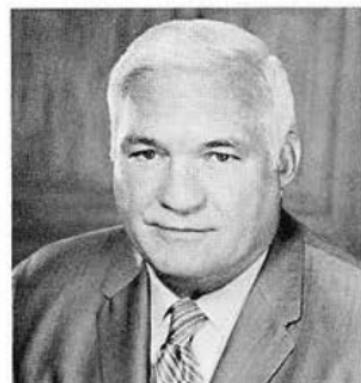

One of the first—if not the first—woman assistant athletic directors in the country, Barbara is in charge of six sports—basketball, track and field, volleyball, swimming, gymnastics and tennis. She was named an associate athletic director in 1975.

Her women's program has become the most successful in the country. During the past year the Trojan women's volleyball and tennis teams won AIAW championships—the first two ever for USC—and the gymnastics and swimming squads both finished fifth in the nation.

A graduate of Arizona State in 1963, Barbara earned a master's degree in physical education from the University of Arizona in 1971.

She coached women's gymnastics for nine years, four at West Denver High School in Denver and five at the University of Arizona and also taught physical education at both schools.

RAY GEORGE Assistant Athletic Director

Still ranked as an all-time Trojan line great, Ray George returned to USC in 1971 as assistant athletic director.

Although never gaining consensus All-American mention, George was never outplayed in three years of varsity football at USC. Following his graduation, Ray then played two years of professional football with the Detroit Lions in 1939 and the Philadelphia Eagles in 1940.

Ray first joined the Trojan coaching staff as line coach in 1946 and served in that capacity through 1950. He moved up to the head coaching job at Texas A & M in 1951 and coached the Aggies for three seasons. He retired from the coaching ranks following the 1953 season and went into private business. Don Clark persuaded the popular assistant coach to rejoin the USC staff in 1958. He served as John McKay's senior assistant for five years.

DAVE LEVY

Assistant Athletic Director

Dave Levy, following 16 years as an assistant football coach under John McKay, is now in his second year as a full-time assistant athletic director at USC.

Levy was named to his present position in December of 1975 by new athletic director Dr. Richard Perry. He had served as both an assistant A.D. and assistant football coach the previous four years.

The genial Levy came to Troy following a highly successful three-year coaching career at Long Beach Poly High School. In the three years he was at Long Beach, the Jackrabbits compiled a 28-1-1 record, winning the CIF championship in 1958 and 1959.

A 1950 graduate of Long Beach Poly High, Levy played football two years at Long Beach City College and lettered at guard at UCLA in 1952-53.

JAMES DENNIS

Assistant Athletic Director

Serving as an assistant athletic director under Dr. Richard Perry is only one of the many duties of Dr. James Dennis at USC.

Dr. Dennis, 33, in his fifth year as an assistant A.D., also is involved in three other positions at the university. He is the director of campus life and recreation, an assistant professor in the physical education department and coordinator of the summer sports club.

As assistant athletic director, he supervises all special events hosted by USC, such as the NCAA Tennis Championships and Pacific-8 Track Championship in 1974 and the Pacific-8 Southern Division Swimming Championships in 1977. He also assists in the administration of the crew, golf, gymnastics, sailing, skiing, soccer and volleyball programs.

Dr. Dennis received his doctor's degree in athletic administration from USC. While working on that degree, he served as an assistant swimming coach for Peter Daland's Trojan teams from 1971 thru 1973.

JACK WARD Head Trainer

Jack Ward begins his 20th year on the USC training staff. He's been the head trainer the last 18 years after serving one year as an assistant.

Ward has worked under three football coaches—Don Clark, John McKay and now John Robinson. He's currently assisted by Paul Williams, Dave Maurer, Dave Crawley and Debi Gooden.

A graduate of the University of Nebraska, he worked at his alma mater for four years as an assistant trainer until 1956. He then attended Therapy School at the Herman Hospital in Houston, Texas for two years.

Following his graduation from Therapy School, he served as a physical therapist with the County Health Department in Sacramento for one year and then joined the USC staff.

GEORGE YABLONSKY Head Equipment Manager

George Yablonsky begins his 11th year as USC's head equipment manager.

Yablonsky served as equipment manager for two years at Orange Coast College and six years at Santa Ana College before coming to USC.

He retired from the Marine Corps after serving for 22 years. He worked for 18 years as an aviation manager and the last four in the athletics division of special services as an equipment manager.

Yablonsky is assisted by Bill Sutton and Carl Lundgren.

JIM PERRY Sports Information Director

Jim Perry, who collaborated with former USC coach John McKay on his popular autobiography, McKay: A Coach's Story, is in his fourth year as sports information director.

Perry is also the color man on USC's football play-by-play broadcasts on KFI radio.

Perry, 35, has a background in journalism, radio and television. He came to USC after six years as a sportswriter with the Los Angeles Herald-Examiner, where he covered college football and wrote features on major league baseball, pro football and basketball, boxing and track.

A 1964 graduate of USC, Perry has also written sports for KMPC radio and United Press International and was the assistant USC sports information director in 1966.

In 1967 he was sports producer at Channel 5 in Hollywood, writing the nightly sportscasts for Dick Enberg and Keith Jackson.

Perry assumed his present job in January, 1974. He is assisted by Russell Ewald and Dennis Kirkpatrick.

A LOOK AT USC IN 1977 ...

At the end of last season USC might have been the best college football team in the country. Can the Trojans sustain that momentum in 1977?

"We have a chance to be very good again," says coach John Robinson. "But we're still a mass of individuals trying to become a team. Graduation took 14 key players.

"We also have the most difficult schedule USC has had to face in many years.

"But we certainly haven't lost our optimism."

Robinson has good reasons for being positive. In his first season as head coach, his Trojans were upset by Missouri in the opener, then rebounded to run off 11 straight victories and wind up No. 2 in both final wire service polls.

In that 11-game winning streak, USC outscored its opponents, 361 to 93, made it to the Rose Bowl for the 8th time in 11 years, and beat UCLA, Notre Dame and Michigan in succession down the stretch.

The second-ranked Trojans finished the regular season third in the nation in total offense (432.5 yards a game) and third in scoring (33.8 points a game). And their defense shut off five teams without a touchdown, blanking three.

Ten starters — six on offense and four on defense — return from 1976, along with a host of potentially good players who got plenty of playing time. A total of 28 lettermen are on hand.

But there is more inexperience than last year, particularly on defense.

"The inexperience of this team is definitely a question," says Robinson. "Now, some people go from inexperienced players to veteran ones in about three weeks. Some take two years. How quickly we make that trip from relatively inexperienced to being a competent, veteran team is a big key."

"Our ability to develop a sound kicking game is crucial, too. We'll have a new punter and new place-kicker."

"And what is the intangible difference in losing a Ricky Bell, a Gary Jeter, a Marvin Powell, a Donnie Hickman, a Shelton Diggs? We've replaced them and the other seniors with quality people, we think, but certainly many of them performed much better their senior year than at any other point in their careers."

"Perhaps the people we have replacing them will be great performers as seniors, too, but many of them now are juniors and a few are sophomores."

TAILBACK CHARLES WHITE 11 TD'S as a Freshman

Certainly there are more questions on defense. If there is such a thing as one side of a team being carried early in a season, at USC it figures to be by the offense.

"The key to our team is the improvement of our defense," says Robinson. "The offense has the potential to be outstanding."

The attack starts with senior quarterback Rob Hertel, who backed up Rose Bowl Player of the Game Vince Evans but would have started at most other schools. Rob, who missed spring football playing baseball, completed 65 per cent of his passes as a junior, eight for touchdowns.

"He can give us a brilliant passing game," says Robinson, "and I have every confidence he'll be one of the best quarterbacks in America."

The six offensive starters returning to work with Hertel include senior All-American split end candidate Randy Simmrin, who has caught passes in 24 straight games (32 for a 20.4 average and 5 TD's last year), and the man Robinson calls "as good a blocking tight end as there is in America," senior William Gay (13 catches for an 11.3 average and 1 TD).

Also back are senior fullback Mosi Tatupu, who has a 5.9 career rushing average, junior tackle Otis Page, senior center Gary Bethel and junior Pat Howell and sophomore Brad Budde, who alternated at weakside guard to count as one starter.

Then there is explosive sophomore Charles White, who ran for 858 yards and scored 11 touchdowns subbing for Bell. White had four 100-yard games, including 114 in the Rose Bowl win over Michigan, and also broke off scoring gallops of 79, 60, 35 and 34 yards.

The Trojans will probably open the season with Hertel at quarterback, Tatupu at fullback, White at tailback, and talented junior redshirt Calvin Sweeney at flanker. With Simmrin at split end and Gay at tight end will be either letterman sophomore Anthony Munoz or letterman senior John Schuhmacher at strong tackle, Budde or senior guard Bruce Brooks at strong guard, Bethel at center, Howell at weakside guard and Page at weakside tackle.

Also figuring prominently will be 1974 California JC Player of the Year Lynn Cain, a junior who will play both tailback and fullback — like Michigan's Rob Lytle did last year — sophomore Kevin Williams, a 9.4 sprinter at flanker; JC transfer Brad Green, pushing Bethel at center; and junior tailbacks Dwight Ford (5.7 career average on 57 carries) and Rod Connors.

"We might be even more innovative in our passing game this year," said Robinson, "and I think we could have one of the better running games USC has ever had. I'm confident about our offensive line, and I think we have excellent balance between Tatupu and Cain at fullback and White, Cain, Ford and Connors at tailback."

The offensive starters gone include the All-American Heisman runnerup Ricky Bell, who rushed for 1,957 and 1,433 yards the last two years; Vince Evans, who passed for 1,440 yards and 10 TD's last season; All-American tackle Marvin Powell, All-Coast guard Donnie Hickman, flanker Shelton Diggs, who led the team in receptions with 37 for eight scores; and alternate fullback Dave Farmer, who had a 7.9 career rushing average.

Defensively, the Trojans will be tested by a schedule that includes spoiler Missouri on the road in the opener (the team that beat USC in 1976), highly rated Alabama in the fifth game and highly rated Notre Dame on the road in the seventh game.

"Putting together a cohesive defense is an early problem for us," says Robinson. "And we're going against some very good football teams with varieties of attacks. Missouri, Alabama and Notre Dame are not only all different but potent offensively."

The four defensive starters returning include All-American safety Dennis Thurman, a senior who led the nation in interception return yardage (170) and was third in interceptions (8); senior second team All-Pac-8 left cornerback Ricky Odom (5 interceptions); All-Pac-8 inside linebacker Clay Matthews, a senior All-American candidate who also calls the defensive signals; and senior left tackle Walt Underwood, another All-American candidate.

Joining Thurman and Odom in the secondary should be senior letterman Mike Carey at rover and either junior letterman Carter Hartwig or junior redshirt Larry Braziel at right corner.

Joining Matthews at linebacker should be either sophomore Dennis Johnson or JC transfer Charlie Moses inside and junior letterman Garry Cobb and senior letterman Mario Celotto outside.

With Underwood as down linemen are junior letterman Rich Dimler at nose guard and senior letterman Vinny Van Dyke at right tackle.

Defensive starters gone include All-American tackle Gary Jeter, All-Coast outside linebackers Rod Martin and David Lewis, inside linebacker Eric Williams, the team's leading tackler; nose guard Harold Steele, rover Clint Strozier and cornerback Ron Bush.

Also among the departed is punter-kicker Glen Walker who had only 11 of 57 punts run back for a staggering low of just five yards last season.

Leading the contenders are a pair of fall transfers, placekicker Frank Jordan, who kicked 20 field goals in two years at University of California Riverside, and punter Marty King, a JC transfer who was fifth in the nation (41.9 average) in 1976.

OFFENSE

QUARTERBACKS

(6) ROB HERTEL — 6-2, 185, 22, Sr.

Going into the 1977 season, Rob Hertel had started just three games at USC, but in his fifth year no one could be better prepared for greatness.

"Last year we revived our offense and established a consistent passing game," said John Robinson. "This season we feel Rob can give us a brilliant one."

"He has the arm, the intelligence, the poise and the leadership ability to be outstanding. He's flat out one of the coolest competitors I've ever been around, and I doubt very seriously if anybody will ever confuse or intimidate him. He's got a chance to be a very high draft choice in football. Assuming he makes the transition from baseball to football well, I have every confidence he'll be one of the best quarterbacks in America."

Hertel missed spring drills as he played second base for USC's Pac-8 champion baseball team.

"I've waited a long time to be the No. 1 quarterback at USC, and my time has finally arrived," Rob says. "I want to lead the football team to a great year."

In 1976 Hertel backed up Vince Evans, who passed for 1,440 yards, and Rob might have been the nation's top backup quarterback. As a junior he completed 30 of 46 passes (65%) for 452 yards and 8 touchdowns and had just 2 intercepted. Against Iowa he tied USC's single-game record by firing four TD passes — throwing 33 and 9 yards to split end Randy Simmrin, 16 yards to tight end Dan Burns and 20 to flanker Shelton Diggs. For the game he was 10 of 13 for 167 yards.

In the narrow win over Notre Dame, he replaced Evans late in the first half of a scoreless tie, after USC had made just one first down. Immediately Hertel drove the Trojans 67 yards to score, hitting six of seven passes, including his six-yarder for the TD to Diggs with 30 seconds left in the half.

Last year Rob also threw TD passes against Oregon, Oregon State and Stanford.

In 1975 Hertel backed up Evans the first three games, then replaced the injured Evans in a start against Iowa and kept the job with starts against Washington State and Oregon (all victories), before breaking his leg against Oregon and going out for the season. Against Iowa he rallied the Trojans from a 10-0 deficit to a 27-16 victory, completing 6 of 14 passes for 121 yards, including a 10-yarder for a TD to Simmrin. He also ran 3 and 6 yards for scores.

His longest completion at USC was a 47-yarder to Simmrin that set up a TD in that game.

Hertel has also been a three-year starter in baseball, winding up with 188 career hits for a new USC record (old mark of 181 was set by All-American Rich Dauer). Last spring he hit .329 as a second baseman and led the team in triples with 6, despite missing 21 games with a pulled hamstring and torn muscle below the hip. His career average was .312.

In 1975 and 1976 he started at third base, hitting .284 for the Pac-8 champs as a sophomore, and then as a junior leading the Trojans in batting (.312), hits (65), total bases (78), games (55) and at bats (208).

A 1974 redshirt and 1973 JV, Hertel led Los Altos High to the 1972 CIF 3-A title and was chosen 3-A Player of the Year. He brought his team from behind in the championship game, firing a TD pass and the winning two-point conversion in the 16-15 win over Santa Maria.

Rob remembers one of those prep games with embarrassment. He walked confidently up to the line of scrimmage and put his hands down for the snap—directly under the right guard instead of the center.

(16) PAUL McDONALD — 6-2, 180, 19, So.

In 1976 lefthander Paul McDonald played in only one game, the 56-0 rout of Oregon State. As a freshman he walked the sideline, carrying a clipboard and charting USC's plays. But he has a great future.

"Paul is a brilliant natural passer," says John Robinson. "And he's made remarkable progress in the last year. He matured dramatically and had an outstanding spring. He's ready to be an excellent backup quarterback in 1977 and a potentially great one in 1978 and 79."

McDonald's idol is Oakland Raider star Ken Stabler — because they're both left handed — and he came to USC, he says, "because of the winning tradition and because of quarterback coach Paul Hackett."

In half of the third quarter and all of the fourth against Oregon State he hit 3 of 7 passes for 34 yards and took the Trojans in for TD's from the 8 and 25-yard lines after interceptions.

A business major, McDonald has a 3.45 grade point average at USC.

At Bishop Amat High, Paul was on the All-Angelus League team as a senior, hitting 52% of his passes for 950 yards. He threw 4 scoring passes against St. Anthony's, with his favorite target (30 catches) being Richie McKay, son of ex-USC coach John McKay. Paul was sidelined most of his junior year by a leg injury.

(14) ROB PRESTON — 6-3, 200, 20, So.

A redshirt sophomore, Preston worked against the varsity in practice in 1975 and 1976, but has never seen game action. But the coaches felt he was very sharp in spring drills.

"Rob has improved a great deal," says John Robinson, "and we believe he's ready to play. If he continues improving, he'll become a very good quarterback."

Preston had a brilliant prep career at Vista High. As a senior he completed 89 of 139 passes (64%) and carried 114 times for 636 yards and a 5.6 average. He led Vista to the San Diego CIF title and a 13-0 record.

In the championship game, Preston and Vista beat Patrick Henry, 32-0.

Rob was first team All-CIF in football and all-league on the basketball team, playing guard. He also enjoys playing volleyball and tennis in his spare time.

(10) WALT RANSOM — 6-0, 185, 26, Jr.

In January, 1968, Ransom was the No. 1 draft choice of the Boston Red Sox, a player Ted Williams told, "Kid, with your swing you're going to be a super star."

Four years of minor league baseball later, he was driving a catering truck for his father. But, given new life by the NCAA rule that allows collegians to be pros in one sport and amateurs in another, Ransom went on to a brilliant JC football career and now at age 26 is the grand old man of the Trojans. He was redshirted in 1976.

"Walt doesn't have a great arm," says John Robinson, "but he's very competitive, has a great feel for the game and makes things happen. He reminds me of pro star Billy Kilmer. He had a very good spring for us."

A spring, 1976 transfer to USC, Ransom was a 1975 honorable mention All-American pick at East Los Angeles JC, where he led his team to a 7-1 record before being injured in the ninth game. In less than a full season he completed 100 of 192 passes (52.1%) for 1,512 yards and 12 touchdowns and had only 5 intercepted.

In 1974, at the age of 23, Ransom and current USC tailback Lynn Cain led East L.A. to the state JC title. Walt directed his team to a 9-1-2 record, completing 46 of 91 passes (50.6%) for 5 TD's with only 4 interceptions. In the championship game, a 33-14 Potato Bowl victory over San Jose City College, Ransom scored on runs of 6 and 14 yards and threw a 12-yard TD pass.

Ransom was the first team All-City quarterback and led South Gate to the Eastern League title way back in 1967. The next spring he hit .400 as the first team All-City shortstop and was off to the Red Sox farm system, drafted ahead of such current stars as George Foster (Cincinnati) and Davey Lopes (Dodgers).

Predictably, Ransom's favorite two sports stars in recent years have been a pair of old timers, Billy Kilmer and the oldest of all, George Blanda.

TAILBACKS

(21) LYNN CAIN — 6-1, 204, 22, Jr.

The 1974 California JC Player of the Year, Cain went into 1977 having carried the ball only four times at USC. But his potential is enormous.

"It's crucial to our success that we use Cain to his fullest potential," says John Robinson. "We'll play him at both tailback and fullback the way Michigan utilized Rob Lytle last year. It's difficult, but Lynn is bright enough to do it.

"He's not only strong, he's elusive with speed that reminds me of Anthony Davis. I'm very confident about him. He'll be another in a long list of great USC running backs."

Cain sat out the 1976 season after undergoing his second operation on his left knee. But he came back in only 2½ months to play the part of Lytle in Rose Bowl drills against the first string defense.

Lynn's first operation (torn ligaments) came late in the 1975 season when he had just moved up to No. 2 fullback behind Mosi Tatupu. Then in the fall of 1976, he was running even with Charles White at tailback behind Ricky Bell when an old high school injury flared up. A flake of bone—about as large as a dime—cracked loose and was surgically removed. Doctors foresee no problems, and Lynn ran well last spring.

Cain came to USC in the fall of 1975 after leading East Los Angeles JC to a 9-1-2 record and the state championship in 1974. He was not only state Player of the Year, but also first team JC All-American.

The state large schools rushing champion, Cain tore for 1,666 yards and 19 touchdowns in 12 games. He carried 295 times, averaged 5.6 a carry and caught 7 passes for a 20.1 average and a TD. He was MVP in the Southern Conference. In East L.A.'s 33-14 Potato Bowl victory over San Jose City College, he ran for 138 yards on 31 carries and scored once.

An All-Eastern League defensive back at Roosevelt High School, Cain was not recruited by anyone when he graduated. "They all said I was too short or too small," he recalls. "So my high school coach suggested I sit out a year (1973) and work, which I did. I gained about 20 pounds, grew 2 inches and entered East L.A. in 1974."

In his only year at USC, Cain also returned 4 kickoffs for 61 yards. Lynn says he enjoys just being alone and listening to music. He also spent last season watching TV—studying the Saturday night tapes of all of USC's games to get ready for 1977.

(17) ROD CONNORS — 6-3, 190, 21, Jr.

Redshirted in 1976, Connors went into fall drills as a top tailback candidate who would also be used to return kickoffs. He showed flashes of brilliance against Oregon in 1975, ripping off runs of 18 and 16 yards, and also carried for 11, 7 and 2 yards on his five carries that season.

"He had a very good spring," says John Robinson. "We know he's got great speed, but now he's learning to run the ball in traffic. I feel he'll develop into an outstanding back."

Connors had a disappointing track season after 1977 spring football, but he showed his talent in 1976 when he ran a 46.2 400 meters to grab third in the Pac-8 meet, high jumped 6-10 to tie for fourth place and ran a 46.9 leadoff leg on USC's winning mile relay team, which did 3:08.6. Rod also ran 47.4 on the leadoff leg of the Trojan 1600-meter relay team which scored in the NCAA meet by finishing sixth.

A Scholastic Coach All-American at California's Rancho Cordova High, Connors also ran track and played basketball. He scored 4 touchdowns in one prep game.

A telecommunications major, Rod enjoys photography and taking long nature hikes. Married, his wife's name is Linda.

(22) DWIGHT FORD — 5-11, 187, 21, Jr.

USC is certainly blessed with tailbacks, and that includes the lightning-quick Ford who has already averaged 5.7 yards on his 57 USC carries. Going into 1977, he also stood 16th on the all-time USC kickoff return list with 16 runbacks for 341 yards, a 21.3 average and a long of 39.

Ford was redshirted in 1976, after he recovered slowly from a spring knee operation for torn cartilage. He's a two-year letterman.

Fourth leading rusher on the 1975 team, Ford had his best game against Iowa with 54 yards on 8 carries, including a 27-yard run. Against Duke he ran for 44 on 7 tries, again breaking a 27-yarder.

A 9.6 sprinter, Ford beat out three other freshmen and lettered in 1974 while backing up Anthony Davis and Allen Carter. Against Stanford he scored on a 3-yard run, and against Washington he bolted through right tackle and ran 36 yards for another TD. His best game was 65 yards on 7 carries that season against Washington State.

"Ford came here as a speed back," says John Robinson, "but he's a more powerful runner now. He ran very hard this spring and still hasn't lost any of his speed. He's an explosive runner who's considerably improved, and he could be one of the big surprises on our team."

Dwight came to USC as a 1973 prep All-American from Bell High, where he was Co-Los Angeles City Player of the Year (with Gardena's Kevin Cole). He broke all of Anthony Davis's city career and season rushing records, running for 3,831 yards and 40 touchdowns overall. As a senior he gained 1,651 yards on 221 carries (7.5 average) and scored 19 TD's. He netted 1,400 yards as a junior and 780 as a sophomore. He's a public administration major at USC.

(31) BERNARD TARVER — 5-10, 185, 22, Sr.

A 1976 letterman, Tarver played both tailback and fullback. Quick, slippery and strong for his size he ran for 53 yards on 5 carries against Stanford, including a long of 21 yards, and scored a touchdown on a 2-yard burst against Oregon State.

Bernard also returned 5 kickoffs for a 22-yard average, including a long of 36. He was redshirted in 1975 and was a 1974 non-letterman.

The brother of pro football running back John Tarver, Bernard went to Arvin High in Bakersfield, where he also played forward in basketball and tripled jumped for the track team. He rushed for 290 yards in one game and gained 1,249 yards as a senior and 1,299 as a junior.

A speech communication and PE major, Tarver enjoys writing music and playing the guitar and piano. He'll never forget the day in high school when he, as left halfback, pulled right, the right halfback pulled left, and they collided and fell down.

(12) CHARLES WHITE — 5-11, 187, 19, So.

On his third USC carry he broke two tackles and ran 6 yards for a touchdown. On his sixth he ran 79 for another touchdown. All of that took place in USC's first 1977 game (Missouri) and from then on Charles White had perhaps the most remarkable freshman year in Trojan history.

He began it as Ricky Bell's backup, but saw more and more action as Bell suffered a series of injuries, and finished with 858 yards rushing, 10 rushing TD's and a 5.5 average. Besides 79 — longest scrimmage run by a USC player since O.J. Simpson's 80 in the 1969 Rose Bowl — Charles had scoring runs of 60 yards (Iowa) and 35 (Oregon State) and ran 34 with a screen pass to score an 11th TD (also Oregon State).

The "backup" wound up second team UPI All-Coast and was named first team Freshman All-American by The Football News.

"Charles is USC's best breakaway threat at tailback since O.J. Simpson," says John Robinson. "It was hard to believe a freshman could be that good that fast.

"His performance in the Rose Bowl under all the pressure of that game was one of the finest individual efforts I've ever seen."

White went into the Rose Bowl against second-ranked Michigan (the nation's fifth leading defensive team against rushing) when the game was just five minutes old, because Bell had been knocked cold. He stayed on to hammer out 114 yards on 32 carries against the proud Wolverines, including a 7-yard touchdown shot through right tackle that virtually clinched the game with 3:03 left.

And on USC's first Rose Bowl TD drive, Charlie carried 8 times for 35 yards and dove into the end zone on a fake, enabling quarterback Vince Evans to roll out from the one and score.

The magical freshman had three other 100-yard games, running for 120 (Iowa), 107 (Oregon State) and 136 (Stanford). He started for the injured Bell in the crucial with Stanford.

"In the spring he looked even better," said Robinson, "but we don't think we'll give him the ball 35 or 40 times a game. He might be more effective getting it only 20 to keep him fresh for breaking loose."

Last season Charles also led the Trojans in kickoff returns with 14 for 295 yards (21.1 average).

At San Fernando High, White was Southern California Prep Athlete of the Year for 1975-76 and one of only three athletes to ever be named player of the year in two sports (football and track). In football he shared Los Angeles City Player of the Year honors with San Fernando and USC teammates Kenney Moore and Kevin Williams, was chosen Scholastic Coach All-American in 1975 and first team All-City in 1975 and 1976.

Playing fullback in the San Fernando wishbone, White averaged 9.5 yards a carry as a senior and 9.9 as a junior, running for 1,155 yards on 121 carries in 1975 and 1,165 on 118 tries in 1974. In track he set a U.S. prep record for the 330-yard low hurdles (36.0).

A photography major, White says he came to USC because of his grandmother (Mrs. Bertha Leggett) who raised him. "She wanted me to go some place near home," he says. "I did it for her. Anthony Davis (who also had gone to San Fernando High) influenced me, too.

"Davis," he continues, "also taught me to run with my knees high so I wouldn't get my legs messed up and stressed that I should always run hard."

Away from football, Charles says he enjoys relaxing and "pounding away on a piano."

FULLBACKS

(45) VIC JACKSON — 6-3, 230, 20, So.

A Trojan to watch in the future, Jackson ran for 53 yards on a dozen carries as a freshman, including 42 on 9 carries against Oregon State. He saw some action at fullback against Notre Dame when injuries knocked both Dave Farmer and Mosi Tatupu out of action. He was one of 5 freshmen to letter.

"Vic is not only big, he has 4.7 speed in the 40 and is just now beginning to mature," says John Robinson. "It'll be exciting to watch his progress. His potential is awesome."

At San Marcos High, Jackson was an All-Channel League pick as a running back and slot back on offense and linebacker on defense. He also wrestled and was on the track team. Vic says his favorite class at USC has been philosophy and points out that he loves the outdoor life.

(34) RICKY JOHNSON — 6-2 1/2, 215, 20, So.

After two years on the JV team, Johnson goes into fall never having been in a varsity game, but all he needed was a position and he's found it. Previously a reserve linebacker, Johnson was still going nowhere at outside backer when he was switched to fullback early in spring drills.

"Ricky turned out to be the most pleasant surprise in spring practice," says John Robinson. "Fullback suits him just fine, because he's a very tough guy, very physical. He doesn't mind knocking your head off."

"He's intelligent and will be an outstanding blocking fullback this season. In time he'll be a good ball carrier as well."

Ricky is so tough in fact that he starred last spring with a broken left hand.

Born in Little Rock, Arkansas, Johnson came to USC from Crenshaw High in Los Angeles, where he was All-Western League at offensive tackle and also played linebacker. He caught for the baseball team. Ricky's favorite class at USC is Spanish, and he says he also enjoys "playing 3-on-3 basketball or playing tennis with some female."

(36) MOSI TATUPU — 6-0, 225, 22, Sr.

"Mosi Tatupu," says John Robinson, "is as good a fullback as there is in the country."

The three-year letterman goes into his final season with a 5.9 career rushing average (861 yards on 145 carries) and a justly deserved reputation as a fierce blocker. In the I-formation nobody takes more punishment than the fullback, and few are as durable as Tatupu who played the entire Rose Bowl deciding victory over UCLA last season with a badly sprained knee. Ricky Bell followed his blocks for 167 yards, and Mosi also ran for 44 on 10 carries.

"He's the finest blocking back at USC since Sam Cunningham," says Robinson. "He's built low to the ground, and he just runs right at you, hits you and knocks you on your wallet."

"He's also an outstanding runner — about as easy to tackle as a Coke machine — and we plan to give and throw him the ball more this year. He's got very good hands. In addition, he's a highly respected leader on our team."

Tatupu, who was born in Pago, Pago, Samoa, was USC's third leading rusher in 1976 (391 yards, 7.0 average) and No. 2 ball carrier behind only Bell in 1975 (425 yards, 5.2 average). He's scored 8 TD's the last two seasons, including tackle-breaking bursts of 28, 27, 16 and 9 yards. He scored from the one in the 1975 Liberty Bowl against Texas A&M.

In USC's 14-6 Rose Bowl victory over Michigan, Tatupu ran for 60 yards on 7 carries and set up the final TD with a 20-yard run. His other top statistical games last season included 75 yards on 7 carries against Purdue, 68 on 5 carries against Stanford and 54 on 10 against Cal. In 1975 as a sophomore he had 79 yards on 11 plays in the big win at Notre Dame, 67 on 11 tries against Cal and 61 on 8 carries against Washington State. With Dave Farmer hurt most of 1975, Tatupu started the last 10 games and played 290 minutes, fifth highest total on the team.

Son of Samoa's one-time middleweight boxing champ, Tatupu was one of 7 children in a family that moved to Honolulu when he was only four. At Honolulu's Punahoa High Mosi was an All-American (Coach & Athlete, Scholastic Coach), rushing for 1,483 yards and 21 TD's as a senior to break all Hawaiian records. He gained 174 yards in his first prep game.

"My high school coach warned me that Samoans don't like to get away from home," says Mosi. "He said I was babied and ought to go out on my own and experience a lot of new things. That's why I left the islands and came to USC. But I still love Hawaii and I still consider myself a pure Samoan.

"Why are Samoans such good football players? They have big hearts and they're very competitive."

A sociology major, Tatupu says he'd like to become a teacher or coach in the future, says he still likes raw fish and notes, "Luau is my favorite sport. Other than that, my favorite pastime is sleeping. I can't seem to find time to get all I need."

WIDE RECEIVERS

(29) STEVE DUDLEY — 6-1, 185, 20, Jr.

A spring transfer from Santa Barbara Community College, Dudley set new school records there for most career yards receiving (1,397 on 71 catches) and TD catches (16). He was first team All-Western States Conference in both 1975 and 1976.

Playing flanker, Steve caught 33 passes for 614 yards and 7 touchdowns in 1975 and came back with 38 catches for 783 yards and 7 TD's in 1976. His career average was 19.7 yards per catch. He also played guard on the school's basketball team and played guard in basketball and centerfield in baseball at Santa Barbara High School. In football Steve made the 1975 Shrine Game as a member of the North.

Born in Biloxi, Miss., Dudley is a physical education major who says he enjoys water skiing.

(26) DAN GARCIA — 6-1, 170, 19, Jr.

The nation's leading junior college pass receiver in 1975, Garcia transferred to USC last spring and went into fall drills listed behind only Randy Simmrin at split end.

"Dan is a guy with medium speed, but he can really catch the ball," says John Robinson. "In fact he has hands just about as good as Simmrin or Johnny McKay. He's got a fine future here — and as he refines his skills he may develop into the same kind of receiver as Randy or Johnny."

At Pierce Junior College, Garcia led the country in both catches (66) and touchdowns (15) in 1975, carrying the ball 1,069 yards. Last season he snagged 53 more for 741 and 5 TD's. His career average was 15.2 yards per catch. In 1976 Dan was named second team All-State, honorable mention All-American, and in both '75 and '76 was picked on the All-Metropolitan Conference first team.

His coach at Pierce, Jim Pendleton, says, "Garcia is the best wide receiver to come out of here since Hal Bedsole (ex-USC All-American). He can get open even when he's double teamed, and he's got outstanding leaping ability."

A physical education major who says his favorite class is English, Garcia was All-Southern League at Los Angeles High School and says the toughest defender he's ever faced is USC cornerback Ricky Odom in drills. Dan also admires Muhammad Ali, "because he makes so much money."

(25) MICHAEL HAYES — 5-9, 175, 21, So.

A redshirt in 1976 and squad member who saw just a few minutes of action in 1975, Hayes figures prominently for 1977. He came to USC as the San Diego Player of the Year from San Diego High School and an honorable mention All-American (Scholastic Coach).

"When Mike arrived here he was an outstanding athlete who'd never played wide receiver," says John Robinson, "but his redshirt year gave him the opportunity to develop his skills at that position. He'll be a big play man for us — both as a receiver and a kick returner."

As a tailback at San Diego, Hayes rushed for 1,418 yards as a junior, 1,200 as a senior and totaled 3,201 in his career. He had seven games over 200 yards. A business administration major, Michael says coming to USC fulfilled a childhood dream, but O.J. Simpson and Lynn Swann were the final influences that convinced him to be a Trojan.

(18) RANDY SIMMRIN — 6-1, 165, 21, Sr.

If you've seen Randy Simmrin catch a football, you know how good he is.

"Randy," says John Robinson, "and Lynn Swann are perhaps the two greatest receivers in USC history. Randy's ability is rare. He's a great pattern runner and catcher like Fred Biletnikoff (Raiders) or Ray Berry (ex-Colt), but he's also got the speed and explosiveness to go deep. He's a definite All-American candidate."

The statistics agree. A two-year starter at split end on a team that loves to run, Simmrin begins this season with 59 career catches, threatening Swann's USC record of 95. He also has a string of 24 straight games in which he's caught at least one pass — every one he's started. That's a school record.

A big play man, Simmrin snagged 32 passes for 653 yards and a 20.4 average (5 TD's) last season. He caught 6 for 121 yards in the narrow win over Notre Dame, including a 63-yarder for a TD, and had other long catches in 1976 of 55, 49, 46, 45 and 33 yards.

He was USC's leading receiver going into the Rose Bowl, but a strained knee limited him to brief playing time (his 27-yard catch still set up the second Trojan score), and he wound up second to Shelton Diggs. He was named second team All-Coast (AP).

In 1975 — on a team that completed only 35% of its passes — Simmrin was easily USC's leading catcher with 26 for 478 yards and an 18.4 average. The next three receivers had only four each. Simmrin had long catches that season of 69, 65 and 47 yards with his 65-yarder in the Liberty Bowl coming over All-American Pat Thomas of Texas A&M and setting up USC's first TD.

"He's not very big, but he's wiry and tough," says Robinson. "Like Swann, he'll do anything to catch the ball."

Simmrin was a freshman reserve in 1974, and in 1973 was the only California prep named to Coach & Athlete Magazine's "Super Eleven" All-American team. He was an All-CIF 4-A first team pick for Burroughs High in Burbank, catching 49 passes for 852 yards and 9 TD's as a senior. He also reached the CIF finals in the 100, 180 low hurdles and long jump.

A history major at USC, Simmrin credits ex-Ram split end Jack Snow with building up his confidence and inspiring him during a summer camp when he was 14.

Randy doesn't worry about being slender. "Size doesn't have as much to do with success as most people think," he says. "The whole thing is technique, being in the right position. People always told me I was too small, that my size would catch up with me."

"But you can't listen to that stuff. You just have to go out and do it."

How about catching?

"Catching the ball doesn't take strength. It takes relaxation. If I tried to strengthen my hands, I might lose my touch."

(87) HOWARD STUDDARD—6-4, 212, 23, Sr.

Studdard — who likes to be called "Horace" — is the type of player John Robinson likes: versatile.

"He'll help us in a variety of ways," says the coach, "at wide receiver, at tight end, and on special teams. He's got good natural ability and he's flexible. He can handle a lot of different assignments."

As the No. 3 tight end in 1976, Studdard didn't letter but caught 2 passes. He was a quarterback on the 1973 JV team, a redshirt split end in 1974 and a non-playing tight end in 1975. A quarterback at Manual Arts High, he once threw 5 touchdown passes in a game and played forward on the basketball team. He was third team All-City quarterback in 1972.

A business administration major, Howard's favorite class is marketing.

(24) CALVIN SWEENEY — 6-2, 182, 22, Jr.

A redshirt in 1976, Sweeney goes into fall drills as the No. 1 flanker. He came to USC last year with assistant coach Bob Toledo from University of California, Riverside, after that school dropped football. Toledo had been head coach there.

On a league championship team that had the nation's leading small college receiver, senior Butch Johnson, Sweeney, just a sophomore, was Riverside's No. 2 catcher with 21 for 274 yards, a 13-yard average and 7 touchdowns. He also carried 5 times for 53 yards (10.6 average) and returned 13 kickoffs for a 21-yard average.

"Calvin is an all-out competitor," say John Robinson, "and reminds me of John Havlicek in his intensity. I like to watch him play. He's got good size, good speed and he can jump. I think he's a step faster than last year's flanker, Shelton Diggs, and he's not afraid. He's willing to risk his body to catch the ball. He's going to be an outstanding receiver here."

As a college freshman, Sweeney played for Riverside City College, where he was All-Mission Conference, averaged 28 yards a catch and also played basketball.

At Perris Union High, Sweeney was a wide receiver, center on the basketball team and high hurdler for the track team. He's a business major.

(8) KEVIN WILLIAMS — 5-9, 165, 19, So.

The other players call Kevin Williams "Bug," because he's about that small and quick.

"Kevin has great speed and great quickness — Cliff Branch's kind of speed," says John Robinson. "He's got that darting ability that's natural. He's got a lot to learn because he was a Wishbone halfback in high school and because he missed some spring practice with track, but when he picks up all the skills he needs he might just do for us what Branch does for the Raiders."

The California state 100-yard dash champion as a junior (9.4) and Los Angeles city 100 champ as a senior for San Fernando High, Williams in football was 1975 City Tri-Player of the Year with prep and USC teammates Charles White and Kenney Moore. In spring, 1975, he was also City Track Athlete of the Year.

As a senior Kevin was named to the Parade All-American team and led the city in rushing (1,402 yards) and scoring (151 points, 22 TD's). Carrying just 125 times, he averaged 11.2 a carry. First team All-City on offense as a senior, Kevin was first team All-City on defense as a junior but also rushed for 876 yards and a 7.2 average that year. San Fernando won back-to-back city titles.

At USC last spring Williams ran on three winning 400-meter relay teams (best time 39.9 against Stanford) and ran a 10.4 100 meters before spring football practice. As a non-letterman squad member in the fall, he returned 5 kickoffs for 71 yards with a long of 22.

TIGHT ENDS

(88) DAN BURNS — 6-4, 230, 22, Sr.

USC's only fall JC transfer in 1976, Burns stepped in and lettered at tight end, catching two passes—both for touchdowns. His scoring catches (16 yards, Iowa and 5 yards, Oregon) both came on throws from Rob Hertel.

Dan missed spring drills as he played first base and served as designated hitter on the JV baseball team. He led the squad in homers with 11, tied for the RBI lead with 32 in 26 games and hit .281.

"Burns is an excellent athlete and great competitor," says John Robinson. "He may play two or three different positions for us, as well as being a key player on our special teams."

Burns transferred from Santa Monica City College, where he was honorable mention JC All-American and first team All-Southern California Conference. He spent one school year there, after originally enrolling at Oklahoma State. He hit .368 as Santa Monica's first baseman and was named first team all-league in baseball, too.

At St. Bernard's High, Dan was All-CIF 3-A as a baseball player in 1973, hitting .489. A psychology major at USC, he says he loves to travel and hit the beach.

(86) WILLIAM GAY — 6-6, 225, 22, Sr.

There's a fellow at Notre Dame who's gotten more publicity, but John Robinson likes his tight end just fine.

"Gay is the best blocking tight end I've ever seen," says Robinson. "He may be one of the most physical players in the country. I already think he and Ken McAfee of Notre Dame are the two best tight ends in college football. Bill's not only an exceptional blocker, he's also greatly improved as a receiver."

A two-year letterman, Gay grabbed 13 passes for 147 yards last year, including an 11-yard TD pass from Rob Hertel against Oregon State and a 27-yard catch that set up the first score against Notre Dame. He caught 3 passes against Iowa and 2 each against UCLA, Purdue and Oregon.

In addition, Bill led the entire team in minutes played with 322.

Third string at the beginning of the 1975 season, Gay wound up starting the last four games that year, although he didn't catch a pass. He played tight end, center and linebacker at San Diego Hoover High, but was an outside linebacker in his one year at San Diego City College. He made 15 tackles in one game at San Diego CC and blocked a punt for a TD.

To improve his receiving skills, Gay says he spent much of the past off-season bouncing a football off a wall and trying to grab it wherever it sailed. A fall,

1975 transfer to USC, he's a sociology major who says he enjoys chess and music. "You know why I came here?" Gay says. "USC was the only university that wanted me."

(85) JAMES HUNTER — 6-4, 230, 19, So.

A non-playing freshman last season, Hunter is a potential star some day.

"James has the same kind of talent as the other great tight ends USC has had," says John Robinson. "He's got a bright future here."

Big and aggressive, Hunter was recruited by the Trojans for his potential, because he did not play football as a senior at Santa Barbara High. He was on the team as a sophomore and junior, but concentrated more on basketball, where he was second team All-CIF at center in 1975 and All-Channel League in 1976.

(82) JOE SHIPP — 6-4, 230, 23, Sr.

Shipp played 31 minutes at tight end in the first three games of 1975 and was given a chance to start against Iowa in the fourth when he tore knee ligaments in practice and was lost for the season. Last year he appeared just briefly.

"However, Joe did an outstanding job in the spring," says John Robinson, "and proved he's ready to play. He's developed into a fundamentally sound player."

Shipp sat out the 1974 season, playing briefly as a 1973 freshman. An All-Marine League pick at split end and flanker, Joe played on two straight L.A. City championship teams at Carson High and was also a center on the basketball team. A public administration major, he spends a lot of his free time going to the beach and riding his bike.

TACKLES

(70) JESS JANKE — 6-6, 250, 22, Jr.

A spring, 1976 transfer from Cerritos Junior College, Janke redshirted last season. He missed the past spring drills with a flareup of an old achilles tendon injury.

"Jess has to learn a vast amount of material in a short period," says John Robinson. "But if he can, he can help us."

At Cerritos Janke was All-South Coast Conference first team at offensive tackle as a freshman. At La Mirada High he played tight end and defensive end and also played center for the basketball team and threw the discus for the track team. He's a physical education major who loves the beach.

(77) ANTHONY MUÑOZ — 6-6, 280, 19, So.

Munoz lettered as a freshman, playing 77 minutes, before tearing knee ligaments prior to the UCLA game and undergoing surgery. He came back in the spring, and is one of three players considered starting tackles. Anthony plays on the strong side.

"He's made an amazing recovery from knee surgery," says John Robinson. "He's got outstanding natural ability — including speed — and awesome size. When he learns all the skills he needs at tackle, he'll become one of the greatest players in USC history."

Those aren't idle words. Against Oregon State last year, when Charles White took a screen pass 34 yards for a TD, Munoz got downfield in front of him to cut off the last defender at the five-yard line. At Chaffey High School he once scored on a 45-yard tackle-eligible pass play.

A unanimous All-American at Chaffey (Coach & Athlete, Parade, Scholastic Coach), Munoz was also named to the All-CIF 4-A team as a defensive lineman. He averaged 40 yards a punt and was a second team All-CIF infielder with a .378 batting average in baseball and All-Citrus Belt League forward in basketball.

Anthony's favorite pastime away from football is playing baseball.

One of the best things that happened to USC last spring was the granting of another year of eligibility to starting weakside tackle Otis Page. He won the job last fall and improved steadily as the season went on, playing 248 minutes. But in 1975 he had played only 8 minutes before an injury, so USC petitioned successfully to have that season restored.

Otis missed most of the last spring practice, when he tore knee ligaments and had surgery the first week. He was hurt in a blocking drill when nose guard Rich Dimler was blocked by another player into the side of his knee.

"Otis has made a very quick recovery from knee surgery," says John Robinson. "By the last half of last season he was outstanding, particularly in the Rose Bowl, and if he picks up from there, he'll be one of the better linemen in the country this year. He reminds me of former USC All-American Steve Riley (now a starter for the Vikings)."

As a 1974 freshman Page just missed lettering, playing 45 minutes behind Marvin Powell at strongside tackle. He made every All-American team as an offensive tackle and linebacker at California's Saratoga High School and was selected outstanding lineman on the Parade All-American team. He was also picked on the Coach & Athlete Cum Laude team for scholastic and athletic achievement combined.

Born in Bangor, Maine, Page is a pre-med major who says his favorite class is physics. He enjoys "surfing, playing the guitar and barbecuing steaks."

The funniest thing he's seen on a football field?

"Watching Coach Robinson get run over when he fell down leading us out of the tunnel at the UCLA game," says Page. "I really respect him for handling the situation so well — because I'm afraid some day it will happen to me."

(74) JOHN SCHUHMACHER—6-5, 275, 22, Sr.

A 1976 letterman, Schuhmacher started four games for the injured Marvin Powell at strongside tackle and is listed as co-starting strong tackle with Anthony Munoz going into fall drills.

"John is experienced and talented," says John Robinson. "If he controls his weight, he'll have an outstanding senior year."

A non-letterman in 1975, Schuhmacher backed up Powell at strong tackle (playing 10 minutes) and was redshirted in 1974, after playing briefly on the varsity as a freshman. He played offensive tackle and tight end at Arcadia High where he was a first team All-Pacific League and first team All-San Gabriel Valley choice.

John was also an all-league outfielder in baseball and once drove in 7 runs in a game. He was the leading hitter on his Babe Ruth baseball team that won the 1973 national title. A business major, Schuhmacher is also an avid card player, golfer and bowler.

John winces when he remembers he once made a basket for the other side in a high school JV basketball game—and his team lost by those 2 points.

(68) KEITH VAN HORNE — 6-7, 245, 20, So.

Given a chance to show off at weakside tackle last spring when Otis Page was hurt, Van Horne made the most of it.

"He's another of our young skilled giants in the offensive line," says John Robinson, "and he's going to be a great player. He improved tremendously this spring. He's got exceptional balance. He's still learning the position, but he might give Page a battle for that starting weak tackle job."

A two-year All-Freeway League choice as a tight end and defensive lineman at Fullerton Union High School, Van Horne appeared in two games at offensive tackle as a freshman last year. In high school he also played center in basketball and was a 59-foot shot putter.

Born in Pittsburgh, Van Horne credits his brother Peter for inspiring his football success so far. He's a broadcasting major with a 3.33 grade point average.

GUARDS

(64) BRUCE BROOKS — 6-2, 255, 23, Sr.

A non-letterman squad member last season (he played 13 minutes), Brooks has improved quickly and goes into fall as one of three guards considered starters. He and Brad Budde were listed as co-starter at strong guard.

"Bruce is fundamentally one of our better players," says John Robinson. "He has exceptional balance for a man his size."

Brooks transferred to USC in spring, 1975, after two years at tackle at Los Angeles City College. But he underwent knee surgery that spring and was redshirted the following season. At LACC he was a teammate of former Trojans Vince Evans and Rod Martin and also set a school shot put record of 54-3. He reached 60 feet with the high school shot at George Washington High.

Away from football, Bruce says he enjoys listening to music with friends.

(71) BRAD BUDDE — 6-5, 250, 19, So.

The son of former Kansas City Chief All-Pro offensive guard Ed Budde, Brad was the first freshman to start in a season opener for USC since World War II. He got his chance when weakside guard Pat Howell was hurt in fall drills, but the two then alternated at weak guard the rest of the season.

Budde comes into 1977 listed as co-starter at strong-side guard with Bruce Brooks.

"Last year Brad accomplished what I consider a phenomenal feat — starting for USC in the offensive line as a freshman," says John Robinson. "But it's no fluke. He has all the tools to develop into one of the school's best linemen ever. His physical ability is obvious, but he also brings great football intelligence and determination to the position."

After last season Football News named Budde its Frosh Lineman of the Year.

Budde played both offense and defense at Rockhurst High School in Kansas City, Mo. (He was born in Detroit.) He made the Parade and Coach & Athlete All-American teams and was the only 1976 Trojan freshman to make Coach & Athlete's "Super Eleven." He led his team defensively as a senior with 111 tackles.

A business major, Budde says of his father, a 14-year veteran with the Chiefs:

"I don't see how anyone can compare to him, because I consider him the greatest guard who's ever played. But if I can keep trying to be as good as he was and never be happy with myself, I'll get better and better. He always gave 110 per cent, and he expects me to do the same. He expects me to be better than he was."

(61) NICK CROUCH — 6-2, 273, 21, Jr.

A transfer to USC from San Diego City College last spring, Crouch entered fall drills as a reserve strong-side guard. He was named his team's offensive lineman of the year last season and played both center and guard in junior college.

Nick played linebacker and quarterback at Ramona High School and also pitched for the baseball team. He ranks USC's defensive line (from spring drills) as the toughest group of players he's ever faced and says his greatest thrill so far in sports is "having the chance to play for USC."

(67) KEN EVANS — 6-4, 250, 22, Sr.

A non-letterman who played 16 minutes last season, Evans entered the fall listed as a backup at both guard and tackle. He transferred to USC from Diablo Valley Junior College in the spring of 1975, but was held out that season.

"Ken is an intelligent player who has worked hard to improve himself," says John Robinson. "If someone gets hurt, he could do a good job at either position."

Ken scored a TD in one JC game after blocking a punt and also put the shot in both junior college and at Ygnacio Valley High School. Born in Salt Lake City, he enjoys building race cars and flying. He's a physical education major. The toughest player he's ever met?

"Gary Jeter in practice," says Evans. "For two years I had to try my very best just to get a fair block on him. He showed me what you had to do to be a Trojan."

(65) SCOTT FRASER — 6-2, 235, 20, So.

Listed as No. 2 weakside guard behind Pat Howell going into fall drills, Fraser redshirted in 1976, after appearing briefly as a freshman center in 1975. At Riverside Poly High School he was twice a first team All-CIF selection at center, making the 4-A team as a junior and 3-A team as a senior when his school's league changed classifications.

Fraser was also the 1974 Riverside County Player of the Year and made 25 tackles against Colton as a linebacker.

"If we'd given a most improved spring player award, Scott would have won it," says John Robinson. "He doesn't have the physical ability of some of our other linemen, but he's still a good athlete and very enthusiastic. He reminds me of starting center Dave Brown of our 1972 national champions."

A business administration major, Fraser is an ardent water skier and backpacker.

(66) PAT HOWELL — 6-6, 255, 20, Jr.

An alternate starter at weakside guard with Brad Budde all of last season, Howell is listed as sole No. 1 weakside guard now and is on his way to a bright future. It was a sprained ankle in fall drills that knocked him out of the opener last year and gave Budde a chance. But Howell keeps improving.

"Pat right now is the leader of our offensive line," says John Robinson. "He probably had the best spring of anyone on our team. He has great physical gifts, and is one of the most determined young men I've ever been around. He's ready now to be a great player — a definite candidate for All-American."

As a 1975 freshman Howell just missed lettering, playing 37 minutes behind Donnie Hickman. He was a consensus prep All-American at Fresno High (Parade, Scholastic Coach, Coach & Athlete) and was the only Californian picked on Coach & Athlete's "Super Eleven" or top 11 prep players in America. Pat played both offensive and defensive tackle, was Northern California Lineman of the Year and threw the discus 195-4 for the track team.

A business major, Pat also enjoys water and snow skiing and hunting. He singles out "starting in the Rose Bowl against Michigan" as the most exciting moment in his sports career.

CENTERS

(69) GARY BETHEL — 6-4, 250, 22, Sr.

The returning starter at center, Bethel was fourth on the team in minutes played last year (302). He had begun fall drills as the No. 3 center, but quickly won the job and kept it all season. As a sophomore in 1975 he lettered as the backup.

"Gary's one of the most respected men on our team," says John Robinson. "He performed very well last year, after outfighting everybody for the job. With added experience he could be an excellent center."

An outstanding student — he has a 3.51 grade point average in history — Gary came to USC from Turlock High in Northern California. He was born in Ft. Worth, Texas. At Turlock, Bethel made the Scholastic Coach All-American team as a guard, but also played defensive end, center for the basketball team and put the prep shot 56 feet. He was a reserve offensive guard for the 1974 national champions at USC.

Gary says his biggest sports hero is St. Louis Cardinal guard Conrad Dobler, "because he's so nasty." After spring drills, he also said, "Rich Dimler of our team is the best nose guard I've ever faced."

(62) CHRIS FOOTE — 6-4, 240, 20, So.

Foote is another of USC's top young linemen, although he hasn't had a chance to prove himself yet. As a 1976 freshman he played a dozen minutes as a reserve center, after sitting out all of 1975 when he first arrived. Injured before he even came to USC, Chris had knee surgery and missed fall drills, thus saving his freshman year of eligibility. He had another knee operation for torn ligaments after last season.

A Parade and Scholastic Coach All-American at Fairview High in Boulder, Colo., Foote was an offensive tackle and middle guard as a prep and also wrestled, put the shot (57 feet) and threw the discus (175 feet).

"Chris has had two years of misfortune with his knee," says John Robinson, "but if his knee is well, he'll be an important factor on our team. He has outstanding athletic ability. We've got some tremendous young offensive linemen on this team, and he's on a par with them."

A sociology major, Foote says he enjoys snow and water skiing. He's had a couple of embarrassing games — both in high school. "We were running on the field before one game," he says, "and I tripped and fell flat on my face. Another day I snapped the ball over the punter's head — twice in the same game!"

(51) BRAD GREEN — 6-2, 245, 21, Jr.

In a spring of impressive JC transfers at USC, Brad Green may have been the most impressive.

A transfer from Orange Coast College, Green was first team All-South Coast Conference and MVP on his team, and he's making a bid for glory at USC, too.

"He had a great spring and he goes into fall challenging for the starting job at center," says John Robinson. "He was an outstanding student in junior college, and he brings that intelligence to the field. I was very impressed with his ability to come in this year and pick up our system so quickly. He's very quick physically, too."

At Estancia High School, Green was second team All-CIF 3-A center as a senior in 1974 and also first team All-Orange County. A business major at USC, he enjoys playing handball and weight lifting. His most thrilling moment in sports was an easy choice. Says Green: "It's being given the chance to play at USC."

KICKERS

(1) ROB KERR — 6-0, 195, 18, So.

An unrecruited walkon, Kerr won a job last season and wound up kicking off for the Trojans in the last five games, including the Rose Bowl.

Rob was an All-Mission Valley League placekicker and tight end at San Gabriel High, but spent the summer before 1976 fall drills pestering USC's coaches for a chance to try out. The first four days of practice he kicked on another field with his girl friend retrieving the ball. Then he got an official tryout and won his uniform. He got his first chance to kick off in a game at Stanford and kept the job.

"Kerr helped us last season," said John Robinson. "He's got a very strong leg and he's improving rapidly. He's got a bright future here as a kicker."

At San Gabriel High, Kerr once hit a 43-yard field goal and also played soccer and long jumped, high jumped and pole vaulted for the track team. He's a psychology major who says his favorite class is Spanish. Off the field he enjoys fishing and handicapping the horses.

(4) MARTY KING — 6-2, 220, 20, Jr.

The Trojans were desperate for a punter to replace graduated Glen Walker, and King, a fall transfer, figures to be that man. He was the fifth leading JC punter in the nation in 1976, averaging 41.9 yards a kick for West Valley Junior College (46 kicks). He was the second leading punter in California.

A first team All-Golden Gate Conference selection, King also won second team All-State honors for his kicking. He holds two West Valley records — highest season punting average (41.9) and highest single game average (50.0 on 6 kicks). He also played some full-back at West Valley and ran 8 times for 96 yards (12.0 average).

A graduate of Bellarmine High School, King was a first team West Catholic League pick in both football and baseball for two years, pitching for the baseball team and winning team MVP honors as a junior.

(3) FRANK JORDAN — 5-9, 180, 21, Jr.

Early favorite for the placekicking job vacated by Glen Walker is former University of California Riverside kicker Frank Jordan, who enters USC this fall.

Jordan was twice first team All-CCAA, playing on Riverside's back-to-back unbeaten league champions in 1974 and 1975. When the school dropped football, he transferred to San Francisco City College and sat out the 1976 season. At Riverside Jordan hit 20 of 31 field goals and 56 of 61 extra points in his two years and proved that he's almost indifferent to pressure.

In 1974 he kicked an 18-yard field goal with 2:04 left in the game to beat Cal Poly Pomona (17-15) and came back the next week to kick a 13-yarder with just five seconds left to beat L.A. State (25-22). Two games later Jordan gave his team the league championship by booting a 41-yarder with 31 seconds left to beat Cal State Northridge (17-15).

Jordan was Riverside's leading scorer both years, kicking for 63 points in 1974 and 53 in 1975. He also played a year of varsity golf. His football coach at Riverside was current USC secondary coach Bob Toledo.

ART SORCE — 6-0, 187, 20, Jr.

Sorce appeared briefly in three games as a non-letterman sophomore last season, kicking an extra point against Oregon. He also played briefly as a 1975 freshman, missing his only field goal attempt.

Art had a brilliant career at Newport Harbor High School, where he kicked 16 field goals in 1974 (in 23 attempts) to set the all-time CIF single season record. He also holds the single-game mark, hitting four field goals in a playoff game that season against Long Beach Poly (a 25-14 win) and he kicked three against Corona Del Mar High, one of 52 yards, in a 16-7 win. He also hit three field goals against Pioneer High, and made the South team in the Shrine Game.

Sorce was chosen first team All-CIF 4-A kicker in 1974, but also played linebacker for Newport Harbor, was an All-Sunset League first baseman, played guard on the basketball team and was student body president. A public relations major now, he's also a three-handicap golfer.

DEFENSE

NOSE GUARDS

(92) RICH DIMLER — 6-6, 255, 21, Jr.

The only Trojan freshman to letter in 1975, Dimler was the No. 1 reserve at both nose guard and tackle in 1976. Now he looms as a two-year starter at nose guard.

"Rich is one of the keys to our success this season," says John Robinson. "He's got enormous potential and he's ready to realize it. He is extremely aggressive and strong and loves the game. He's one of the more highly respected players on our team — and it's crucial that we take advantage of his talent."

Dimler was like a fourth defensive line starter last season, leading all defensive reserves in minutes played (140) and standing ninth on the team in tackles with 52, including 2 for 15 yards in losses. He started for the injured Gary Jeter at tackle against Iowa and started at nose guard against Missouri.

As a freshman letterman, Dimler played 68 minutes behind Jeter, making half a dozen tackles.

Born in Bayonne, N.J., Dimler was a unanimous prep All-American (Coach & Athlete, Parade, Scholastic Coach) at Bayonne High. He went both ways, playing tackle on offense and shifting to guard for his blocking in short yardage situations. As a defensive lineman he made 66 unassisted tackles as a senior, 42 of them in the first five games before frustrated opponents started running the other way. He also knocked down 6 passes, recovered a pair of fumbles and sacked the quarterback 9 times.

A P.E. major, Rich's idol is another tough guy, Dick Butkus. Asked why he came all the way across America to play at USC, Dimler said: "I knew if I could play here, I could play anywhere."

(72) RAY PETERS — 6-3, 230, 21, Sr.

Peters has been a non-letterman squad member at both nose guard and tackle the last two seasons playing 19 minutes in 1975 and only 4 last season, before tearing ligaments in his right knee and undergoing surgery, which cost him the rest of the year. He had one tackle for an eight-yard loss before the injury.

A physical education major, Ray appeared briefly as an offensive tackle in 1974, after coming to USC from St. Francis High in La Canada, where he was named Lineman of the Year on the All-San Gabriel Valley team. He was also an All-CIF 4-A pick.

Against Notre Dame High he blocked a punt, scooped up the ball and ran 70 yards to score for a 10-7 victory. He had 29 quarterback sacks as a senior and played on the North team in the Shrine All-Star Game.

(63) TY SPERLING — 6-0, 230, 19, So.

As a freshman last season, Sperling appeared only in the Iowa game as an offensive lineman, but he appears to have a long future ahead of him on defense. He came into fall as No. 2 nose guard behind Rich Dimler.

"Sperling is very quick, very intense and very ambitious," says John Robinson. "In fact his size and physical characteristics remind me of Rich Glover (ex-Nebraska star)."

Ty was a first team All-Los Angeles City pick in 1975 as an offensive guard at Banning High and Scholastic Coach All-American. He also played offensive and defensive tackle and was a two-year All-Marine League pick.

In 1975 Sperling was co-captain of the Banning team which was Los Angeles City runner-up. He's also a registered Olympic lifter in the clean and jerk and snatch and holds Banning's records of 350 pounds in the bench press and 500 pounds dead lift. He fired the prep shot put 54-4.

(99) VINCE TAMMARE — 6-3, 230, 22, Sr.

A non-letterman in 1976, Tammaro saw six minutes of action against Iowa and Washington State, but figures to see more action this fall as a special teams member.

"Vince has been slowed by nagging injuries to his shoulders and neck," says John Robinson, "but if he's healthy he can help us. He's tough and aggressive."

Tammaro played on USC's last JV team in 1973, but was a non-playing squad member in 1974 and 1975. Born in San Francisco, he came to USC from Serra High School up north, where he was All-San Mateo County, All-West Catholic Athletic League and team MVP as a fullback. He also played basketball. A public relations major, Vince spends his free time hunting, fishing and backpacking.

(94) RAY ZOLLER — 6-3½, 250, 20, So.

Zoller tore ligaments in his left knee last fall, underwent surgery and sat out the season. He also missed spring practice. He might see action at nose guard, if the knee is strong enough. He did play briefly at nose guard as a 1975 USC freshman.

Born in Macon, Ga., Ray came to USC from Troy High School locally, where he played offensive and defensive tackle, and was an All-Freeway League selection. He still remembers fondly when his Troy High team upset defending CIF champ Los Altos in 1974. These days Zoller is an avid water and snow skier and says his favorite athlete is Austrian Olympic skiing champ Franz Klammer.

TACKLES

(73) EDDIE CATOE — 6-4, 245, 21, Sr.

A letterman as a reserve defensive tackle last season, Catoe goes into fall drills listed as No. 2 left tackle behind Walt Underwood. He recovered a fumble last season and made three tackles.

"Ed has good agility," says John Robinson, "and if he can become more determined and more efficient, he could play an important role for us."

A spring, 1975 transfer from San Bernardino Valley College, Catoe was redshirted that fall after playing two years at tackle in JC. Born in Dayton, Ohio, he was a defensive end and tight end at San Bernardino High and ran the 880 for the track team. As a senior in high school Eddie was playing offensive tackle and blocking one day when his quarterback, under a heavy pass rush, pitched him the ball and he ran for a 35-yard gain.

A public relations major at USC, Eddie says his biggest sports hero is his own father — also named Eddie. His dad was 1954, 55 and 56 Golden Gloves and 1956 Pan-American heavyweight boxing champ.

(96) MYRON LAPKA — 6-4, 245, 21, So.

A 1976 redshirt, Lapka appears ready to be a major contributor to USC's great defensive tradition. He goes into fall drills listed as No. 2 right tackle behind Vinny Van Dyke.

"Myron has the size, speed and overall ability to be one of the most outstanding tackles USC has ever had," says John Robinson. "We expect three excellent years from him, including this one. He'll be the first sub at defensive tackle this season."

At Chatsworth High, Lapka was a first team All-Los Angeles City selection at defensive tackle in 1973 and second team All-City in 1974. He played fullback, too, and also played for the North in the 1975 Shrine All-Star game. At USC in 1975 he appeared in one game as a freshman. Myron is a recreation major who enjoys fishing and skiing.

(81) ALLEN PUGH — 6-4, 240, 19, So.

Pugh was a non-playing squad member last season as a freshman, after coming from San Marcos High School in Northern California, where he was a Scholastic Coach All-American and second team All-CIF 4-A pick as an offensive tackle. He also made the All-Channel League team two straight years and was an all-conference pick one year as a basketball forward and baseball first baseman.

An active young man, Allen enjoys drawing and playing basketball and tennis.

(95) WALT UNDERWOOD — 6-4, 230, 22, Sr.

Going into his third straight year as a starting tackle, Underwood was named to the Playboy All-American team this past summer. There may be more All-American honors ahead.

"Walt is one of the quickest defensive players we've ever had at USC," says John Robinson. "He brings the same kind of explosiveness to defensive tackle that Richard Wood and James Sims (past Trojan stars) brought to linebacker."

"Walt has improved each year, and I look for him to have a great year as a senior. If he does, I see no reason why he shouldn't be an All-American."

Underwood had surgery on his left shoulder for repair of the shoulder capsule during spring practice, but he should be as good as new this fall. In 1975 and 1976 he played opposite All-American Gary Jeter at right tackle, but now he moves to Jeter's left tackle spot.

"Offenses run to their right more than to their left," says Robinson, "which means they'll hit your left tackle first. You should put your best man there."

Nicknamed "Butch," Underwood runs the 40 in 4.7 and has thrown 18 backs for losses totaling 69 yards the past two seasons. In 1975 he was sixth on the team in overall tackles with 61, broke up a pass and recovered a fumble. And in 1976 he was again sixth on the defense in stops with 68—13 more than the All-American Jeter—and also recovered a fumble and knocked down three passes at the line.

Butch had 11 of those 18 tackles for losses last season and saved some of his best games for the best teams. Usually asked to contain runners, rather than rush straight ahead, he still had 11 tackles against UCLA and 10 against Notre Dame. And, in both 1975 and 1976, he was picked on the second team All-Pac-8 squad.

A defensive lineman on the last JV team in 1973, Underwood sat out the 1974 season before an injury to Vinny Van Dyke gave him his big chance in 1975. Ironically, Van Dyke was pencilled in to start up front with him this season.

Born in Tuscaloosa, Ala., Underwood came to USC from Southwest High in Atlanta, where he helped his football team go unbeaten (10-0) and his basketball team win the state 2-A title. He played middle guard for Southwest's defense which allowed only 13 points all year, and made 25 tackles in one game. He was an All-State pick. In basketball he was the Wolves' leading scorer and rebounder the night they won the state title. In track he was Georgia state champ in the discus and set a state record.

A physical therapy major, Underwood says he simply enjoys meeting and talking to people.

(75) VINNY VAN DYKE — 6-5, 250, 22, Sr.

The starting right tackle — opposite Walt Underwood — going into fall drills, Van Dyke was 13th on the defense in minutes played as a junior letterman. He had 29 tackles, including one for an 8-yard loss, and broke up two passes at the line.

"Vinny is a very, very consistent player," says John Robinson. "And he's a very efficient one — no wasted motion. He's ready to have an outstanding senior season."

The now graduated Gary Jeter, USC's All-American at tackle, agrees. "We called Vinny the technician," says Jeter. "All of us make mistakes in technique, like taking a step in the wrong direction, but Vinny almost never does. He's a very disciplined player."

Van Dyke might have been a three year starter—he was tabbed to start as a 1975 sophomore—but a late summer injury on a construction job that year reduced him to 28 minutes of action as a non-letterman. He made 8 tackles. As a 1974 freshman he played 21 minutes, mostly on kickoffs, and made 9 tackles.

at Greenwich High and was on the Scholastic Coach All-American team at defensive end. He was also area Athlete of the Year and in one game made 13 unassisted tackles. In another, he intercepted a screen pass and ran 40 yards for a TD. In the winter he was the basketball center.

An outgoing young man, Vinny says, "Away from football I really enjoy relaxing with a group of friends and just listening to music." He's a speech major.

LINEBACKERS

(59) MARIO CELOTTO — 6-4, 230, 21, Sr.

A three-year letterman at linebacker, Celotto, his coaches hope, has saved the best for last.

"This has to be Mario's year," says John Robinson. "He has to squeeze three years of football into one. He's shown great promise throughout his career, but has always been plagued by injuries."

"He's definitely got the size, strength and quickness necessary to make him a great player. In fact, he can and must have an outstanding year if we're going to have as good a defense in 1977 as we did in 1976."

Mario goes into fall listed as starting weakside, outside linebacker. He's no stranger to starting, having done it both as a freshman and a sophomore before an ankle sprain and slow recovery from knee surgery limited him to 96 minutes as a junior linebacker reserve. Celotto missed three games last year, but still came off the bench to make 36 tackles, including three for losses.

In 1975 — a year of several severe injuries for the Trojans — one of the most devastating was the loss for the season of Celotto in the fifth game with torn knee cartilage. At the time, as a starting outside backer, he was leading the team in tackles for losses (6 for 31 yards), had made 27 tackles and broken up a pass. He had knee surgery a second time during the winter.

A 4.7 40-yard dash man, Celotto not only lettered as a freshman for the 1974 national champs, but was 12th on the defense in minutes played and started three games when senior Dale Mitchell sat out with a knee injury. Celotto had 37 tackles that year, including two for losses and showed off his speed by returning a short kickoff 44 yards to Washington's 9-yard line. He also played briefly at defensive tackle.

At St. Bernard's High, Mario was chosen on the All-CIF 3-A first team, despite his team's 1-8 record. He was also All-Camino Real League as an offensive guard and defensive tackle for two years. He's a business major.

(53) GARRY COBB — 6-3, 220, 20, Jr.

Opposite Mario Celotto as the starting outside linebacker on the strong side is Garry Cobb, who likes to be called "Billy Dee." He lettered as a sophomore, making 24 tackles, including two for losses, breaking up two passes and intercepting another, despite missing three games with a sprained ankle. He was a reserve at both inside and outside linebacker.

"Garry should be a very consistent performer for us," says John Robinson. "He isn't the physical talent at his position that Dave Lewis was last year, but he could still be outstanding. He's a very intelligent player who reminds me a lot of Dale Mitchell of our 1972 and 74 national champs. In fact, he might be a little stronger than Mitchell."

In 1975 Cobb was second only to Rich Dimler in minutes played among the freshman, narrowly missing his letter with 41 minutes. He had a half dozen tackles as a backup outside linebacker.

Born in Carthage, N.C., Cobb was an All-State linebacker and flanker at Stamford High School in Stamford, Conn. He played against USC teammate Vinny Van Dyke, and recalls fondly the Thanksgiving Day he caught two TD passes for his state championship team that finished 12-0. Besides football, Garry was also a star forward in basketball and an outfielder for the baseball team, captaining all three sports.

You can't convince him basketball is a non-violent game. Trying to save the ball once, he ran straight into the gym wall and knocked himself out.

A sociology major, Cobb says his favorite pastime is reading.

(50) ED GUTIERREZ — 6-0, 205, 21, Sr.

A 1976 letterman, Gutierrez is seventh among returning defensive Trojans in minutes played, seeing 99 minutes of duty as a reserve outside linebacker and special teams member. He made 22 tackles, including 2 for 21 yards in losses and also ran interceptions back 38 and 15 yards against Iowa and Oregon, respectively.

Twice honorable mention All-American for East Los Angeles JC, Gutierrez transferred to USC in spring, 1976. In 1974 he was honored at defensive tackle on East L.A.'s state championship team that also had fellow Trojans Lynn Cain and Walt Ransom. As a sophomore in 1975 Gutierrez switched to linebacker but was honorable mention All-American again and also first team All-State.

"Ed's one of the leaders of our special teams and one of the leaders of our overall defense," says John Robinson. "He's among the toughest people on our team and should be an important part of our defense. He'll see action at both outside linebacker positions."

Gutierrez was also an All-Del Rey League linebacker at Salesian High. A recreation major, he loves to play racket ball and go to the beach. He's still embarrassed by a play in a game years ago. Chasing the ball carrier, Ed tackled him all right, but also tackled one of his own teammates at the same time.

(56) DENNIS JOHNSON — 6-4, 230, 19, So.

As a freshman, Johnson played in four games, appearing 17 minutes, but he goes into fall drills listed as a possible starting inside linebacker opposite Clay Matthews. He has a lot of pressure on him.

"Dennis is one of the keys to our season," says John Robinson. "He's very inexperienced, but he has the potential to be a truly outstanding linebacker. He's got tremendous range and almost ideal size. He made very fast progress as a freshman."

Johnson was recruited out of Northwestern High in Flint, Mich., where he was a Scholastic Coach honorable mention All-American pick and All-State as both a tight end and linebacker. He caught 23 passes for 468 yards (20.3 average) and 5 TD's as a senior and 27 passes for 367 yards (15.1 average) as a junior. He runs the 40 in 4.6 and bench presses 300 pounds.

A physical education major, Johnson loves playing tennis and one-on-one basketball but recalls with embarrassment the day in high school when he broke into the open on an end around play, cut to the sideline and dropped the ball.

(41) STEVE KENLON — 6-0, 200, 21, Jr.

Steve has been plagued by injuries during his career, including last year when he appeared in half a dozen games, played 15 minutes and made a pair of tackles. He was redshirted in 1975 after spring knee surgery, but came back in the spring of 1976 to run the 40 in 4.65.

"If he stays healthy, he'll be a key factor on our defense as a reserve outside linebacker and as one of the leaders of our special teams," says John Robinson. "He's lightning fast and very dedicated."

As a freshman, Kenlon appeared in several games for the 1974 national champs, made 13 tackles and threw one of the blocks which sprung Anthony Davis on his famous scoring kickoff return against Notre Dame.

A split end (sophomore), tight end and linebacker (junior) and running back (senior) for Servite High School, Kenlon made the 1973 Coach & Athlete All-American team and was honorable mention on the Scholastic Coach squad. He was also Lineman of the Year in Orange County. In his junior year Steve made 18 tackles against CIF champ-to-be St. Paul.

Kenlon is a business major who also enjoys photography and tennis.

(60) CLAY MATTHEWS — 6-2½, 232, 21, Sr.

The only returning starter at linebacker, Matthews is the leader of the Trojan defense. On his way to being a four-year letterman, Clay comes off a great junior year in which he was named first team All-Pac-8, honorable mention All-American, called defensive signals and was the second leading tackler on the team with 112 (to departed senior Eric Williams' 126).

"Most people from the pros say Clay may be the first linebacker taken next year in the draft," says John Robinson. "They feel he's the best college linebacker in the country, and I agree."

"He should be an All-American this season. He's one of the best fundamental linebackers I've ever seen, and he has almost perfect size and great intelligence. He's also very tough and very consistent."

A business major, Clay is a member of the Pac-8 honor roll with a 3.19 grade point average. At inside linebacker last year he had 17 tackles against Purdue, 12 against both Cal and Washington State, 11 against Washington and 10 against Notre Dame. He also had 5 for losses, recovered 2 fumbles and broke up a pass.

Matthews is the son of Clay Matthews, who played end for the San Francisco 49ers in the mid-1950's. "My father never pushed me," Clay says today. "He just said that if you're going to play, give it your best. My own motivation has driven me, and as I look back now, I'm really grateful to my dad. In high school I played with some guys who weren't happy because their fathers were always pushing them."

In 1975 as a sophomore Matthews started two games—one inside for injured Dale Logie and one outside for injured Mario Celotto—and finished 10th on the team in tackles with 46. He also broke up a pair of passes, intercepted another and recovered a fumble.

As a freshman on the 1974 national champs, Matthews made 25 tackles, including 3 for 9 yards in losses. He came to USC from New Trier East High in Chicago, where he was on the Coach & Athlete and Scholastic Coach All-American teams, made the All-Illinois team and won the Knute Rockne Award from the Chicago Notre Dame Club as outstanding player in the area. He had 20 tackles in one game as a linebacker, averaged 6.7 yards a carry as a fullback, and also played guard on the basketball team.

"I hadn't considered attending USC until I got a phone call about two or three weeks before the signing date," he says. "I was thinking at first about Georgia Tech or Nebraska."

(54) MIKE McDONALD — 6-2, 225, 19, So.

A letterman as a freshman, McDonald played 27 minutes—mostly on the kicking teams—made 3 tackles, recovered a fumble and snapped for the Trojan punter. He goes into fall listed as Clay Matthews' back-up at inside linebacker. Again, he'll be the center for punts.

"Mike is improving rapidly," says John Robinson. "No one has worked harder to get better since last season than he has. He should be one of our special team leaders."

McDonald was an All-CIF 3-A first team selection as a linebacker at Burroughs High in Burbank, and was named the co-defensive Player of the Year in the Foothill League and Lineman of the Year in the Glendale-Burbank area.

Mike says his favorite pastime away from football is lifting weights and lists teammate Clay Matthews as his biggest sports hero, "because he's the best linebacker I've ever seen."

(57) LARRY McGREW — 6-5, 235, 19, So.

A fall transfer from Contra Costa Junior College, McGrew originally signed a letter of intent with California but chose to attend a junior college instead. As a freshman at Contra Costa he played outside linebacker in a four-linebacker defense like USC's and excelled at pass coverage, according to his coach, Vince Maiorana.

"As big and as broad as he was," said Maiorana, "he was an ominous figure back there."

McGrew didn't play his sophomore year at Contra Costa, choosing to obtain his degree and keep three years of eligibility.

Larry attended Berkeley High and was a two-way starter at tight end and outside linebacker but played only three and a half games his senior year because of a broken leg. He was an inside linebacker his junior year.

(55) CHARLIE MOSES — 6-2½, 220, 21, Jr.

One of the top new Trojans is Charlie Moses, who transferred last spring from Chaffey Junior College and goes into fall fighting with Dennis Johnson for the starting job at inside linebacker opposite Clay Matthews.

"Moses has made exceptional progress at a new position," says John Robinson. "He goes to the ball very well, and he's very physical. When he masters the details of his position he'll be outstanding."

At Chaffey Moses was an outside linebacker for two years and was named All-Mission Conference first team as a sophomore. He made 124 tackles in 10 games, 82 of them unassisted, and also recovered 3 fumbles, intercepted a pass and sacked quarterbacks 11 times. He came to Chaffey from Ontario High School.

Charlie began at outside linebacker last spring for USC, but was shifted inside after a week. "Inside linebackers should be more physical than outside backers," said linebacker coach Don Lindsey, "and we noticed Charlie was knocking the heck out of everyone. He's the kind of guy who'll chase you all over the field to hit you."

A sociology major, Moses says he loves to relax away from football by listening to music with his friends.

(97) STEVE O'GRADY — 6-3, 220, 22, Sr.

As a junior last season O'Grady saw 11 total minutes of action in the Missouri and Iowa games, but goes into fall listed as No. 2 outside linebacker behind Garry Cobb. Steve transferred to USC in fall, 1975 from Praire State College in Illinois, then sat out the 1975 season.

Born in Chicago, O'Grady went to Mendel High in Illinois where he played defensive end. A recreation major, he says playing golf is his favorite pastime away from football and he calls Dick Allen his biggest sports hero.

(83) RAYTHEL POLK — 6-3, 223, 20, Jr.

A spring transfer from San Francisco City College, Polk figures to be a reserve inside linebacker this season, but he has a bright future. He was a two-year starter at San Francisco CC, where he played middle linebacker and made 237 tackles in his career. In two years Polk also recovered 6 fumbles, broke up 6 passes, blocked 3 kicks, sacked 3 quarterbacks and intercepted 2 passes.

He was second team All-Golden Gate Conference in 1976 and Northern California JC Player of the Week when he made 27 tackles against West Valley.

Polk was also a middle linebacker and high jumper at Woodrow Wilson High in San Fernando, winning honorable mention All-American honors on the 1974 Scholastic Coach team. He was also an All-City choice in San Francisco.

A psychology major, Polk lists women and cars as his two greatest interests off the football field and says USC sophomore tackle Anthony Munoz in drills is the toughest player he's ever faced.

DEFENSIVE BACKS

(47) LARRY BRAZIEL — 6-0, 184, 23, Jr.

A spring, 1975 transfer from Compton Junior College, Braziel impressed USC coaches right away but suffered torn knee cartilage after just seven days of practice, had surgery and was redshirted last fall. This fall he and Carter Hartwig are listed as co-starters at right cornerback.

"Larry's a very tough and determined athlete who has the same type of toughness as Ronnie Bush on our 1976 team," says John Robinson. "He has 4.5 speed in the 40, too, and we expect a fine year from him."

At Compton Braziel was twice named first team All-Western States Conference. In 1975 he intercepted 2 passes, broke up 6 more and made 25 tackles.

Born in Fort Worth, Texas, Braziel was an offensive and defensive back at Dunbar High in Fort Worth, intercepting 3 passes in one of his games. Larry had an embarrassing incident happen to him one day. He intercepted a pass and was suddenly tackled — by one of his own teammates!

He's an elementary education major at USC and says he enjoys listening to music. "I came to USC," says Braziel, "because I had never been on a winning team before."

(5) MIKE CAREY — 6-1, 195, 22, Sr.

A 1976 letterman, Carey played 55 minutes in the first 8 games at rover and on special teams before undergoing successful surgery for Hodgkin's Disease the Monday following the Stanford game. He came back to play last spring and goes into fall listed as the starting rover.

"Mike is one of the leaders on our team," says John Robinson. "He's one of the most determined players I've ever been associated with, and his enthusiasm and competitiveness inspire the rest of the players. He reminds me in that way of Pete Rose of the Cincinnati Reds."

An engineering major with a 3.24 grade point average, Carey made 10 tackles last season. He was named captain for that Stanford game and won the toss of the coin. He's a strong, quick runner who played 20 minutes as a reserve quarterback in 1975, before moving to the secondary in the spring of 1976.

As a 1975 quarterback, Carey directed an 85-yard drive against Washington State but lost a chance to score a TD when he ran from the seven to the one-yard line and fumbled the ball away. He had an 18-yard run in that game and also returned 3 kickoffs for 36 yards that season with a long of 23.

Mike played rover briefly with the varsity back in 1973, appearing in the Rose Bowl, and redshirted in 1974. He played both defensive back and quarterback on the North Shrine team in 1973, after being chosen All-Northern California quarterback at San Francisco's Riordan High. In one prep game he passed for 140 yards, ran for 120 and scored 3 touchdowns, while throwing for another.

Carey still remembers sheepishly the day he threw a practice pass and got stung by a bee at the same time.

(30) WILLIE CRAWFORD — 5-11, 177, 22, Jr.

A first team JC All-American, Crawford transferred to USC from City College of San Francisco last spring and goes into fall pushing Mike Carey for the rover job. He's also listed behind Dennis Thurman at safety.

"Willie is a great addition to our team," says John Robinson. "He's as fine a tackling defensive back as I've ever seen at USC — he hits like Jack Tatum (Ohio State and Oakland). He's also got great enthusiasm."

Crawford had a spectacular career at San Francisco CC, where he made 219 tackles in his two seasons, intercepted 12 passes, broke up 7 more, recovered 6 fumbles, blocked 4 kicks and sacked the quarterback once. In 1975 he led the state in interceptions with 9.

Not only was Willie a first team All-American in 1976, but he was also first team All-State and team captain. In 1975 he was honorable mention All-State and honorable mention All-American, and both seasons he was named Golden Gate Conference Outstanding Defensive Back, first team All-Conference and CCSF's most valuable player.

"He was the finest player I've ever coached," says his JC coach, Dutch Elston. "He was literally the heart of our defense."

Three times in his career Crawford was picked as Northern California JC Player of the Week, including a game against San Jose JC last year when he made 22 tackles, recovered a fumble and intercepted a pass.

An outstanding athlete, Crawford also started two years at shortstop for the school's baseball team, batting .370 in 1976.

A physical education major, Willie played safety and shortstop at Mission High in San Francisco, winning All-City honors in both sports.

(11) CARTER HARTWIG — 6-0, 200, 21, Jr.

A wide receiver going into last fall, Hartwig was moved to defensive back and lettered, seeing 77 minutes of action across all 12 games. He goes into this fall as a co-starter at right corner with Larry Braziel.

Carter made 19 tackles last year and ran two interceptions back 15 yards. As a 1975 freshman he saw brief action at wide receiver.

"Hartwig has learned the basic skills necessary to be an outstanding cornerback," says John Robinson. "All he needs is more experience. Over the next two years he should develop into an excellent corner."

A graduate of Central High in Fresno, Hartwig was a prep All-American (Scholastic Coach team), playing split end and defensive back, and was twice named all-conference. In a playoff game as a junior against Shafter High he scored 3 touchdowns. Carter also high jumped 6-6 and ran a 21.9 220 for the track team. He says today his favorite hobbies are water skiing and scuba diving.

(48) TIM LAVENDER — 6-4, 185, 21, Jr.

A spring, 1976 transfer from San Diego City College, Lavender was held out last season but figures to see heavy action this fall at rover. He was first team All-Mission Conference safety at San Diego.

Tim returned 4 interceptions for 172 yards as a sophomore at San Diego, including a school-record, 96-yard sprint for a TD against San Barbara City College. He also had a 97-yard TD runback cut to a net of 40 by a clipping penalty. Lavender broke up 4 other passes and made 38 tackles. He also played basketball as a freshman and was the 20th leading rebounder in the state.

"Tim has improved greatly since last season," says John Robinson. "He has the size and speed to be very good, but needs experience. We expect him to play an important role in the secondary."

A public relations major at USC, Lavender went to Central Union High near San Diego, where he won all-league and All-Desert honors at defensive back. He was also an all-star at guard and center for the basketball team.

(43) KENNEY MOORE — 6-1, 185, 19, So.

One of the most honored players in Los Angeles City history, Ken appeared in three games as a freshman (six minutes) and goes into fall listed as a reserve safety.

At San Fernando High in 1974 and 75 he was only the second player in City history to twice be named Player of the Year (the other was ex-Trojan fullback Charlie Evans in 1965 and 66). In 1974 Kenney was named City Player of the Year alone as only the fourth junior to ever be so honored, and as a senior he shared the award with San Fernando and USC teammates Charles White and Kevin Williams.

Moore quarterbacked San Fernando to back-to-back City championships in 1974 and 1975 and directed the Wishbone powered Tigers to a 32-5 three-year record as he accounted for 4,085 yards in total offense, ran for 19 touchdowns and passed for 27 more.

His most productive year was his junior season when he ran for 781 yards and 11 TD's on 177 carries (4.4 average) and passed for 769 yards and 7 TD's (53 of 122). Hampered by a jammed toe as a senior, he still ran for 624 yards and passed for 616.

Moore was a full-time two-way player at San Fernando and was first team All-City at quarterback as a junior and first team All-City as a defensive back his senior season. In 1975 he was also picked on the Parade and Coach & Athlete All-American teams.

"Ken is an excellent natural athlete and is working hard to learn all the skills necessary to play in the secondary," says John Robinson. "He has a bright future at USC."

A cinema major, Kenney is the brother of ex-Trojan fullback and tailback Manfred Moore.

(33) RICKY ODOM — 6-0, 180, 21, Sr.

Going into last season, John Robinson called Ricky Odom "one of the best one-on-one cover men I've ever seen in college football." After Odom's fine junior season as the starting Trojan left corner, Robinson has seen nothing to change his mind.

Ricky finished last year as the Pac-8's second leading interceptor with 5 for 44 yards, including a long of 25, and also made 35 tackles, broke up 8 more passes and was second team All-Pac-8 and second team AP All-Coast.

Odom didn't start the Missouri opener which USC lost, but was put in the lineup the second week and solidified the secondary. Against Stanford he intercepted three passes in the first half to earn Co-Pac-8 Player of the Week honors, picking one off at the Card 42 to set up one touchdown, running another back 13 yards to the Card 15 to set up another TD and running still another back 25 yards. He was one of the chief Trojans responsible for the astonishing 34-3 halftime lead built up by USC.

"Ricky had an exceptional junior year and can develop into one of the premier corners in America," says John Robinson. "He's just a natural one-on-one cover man, and now he's got the experience to be outstanding overall."

As a sophomore in 1975 Odom just missed lettering, playing 31 minutes as the backup to second team All-American Danny Reece. He made 9 tackles. Ricky also backed up Reece as a freshman, playing 19 minutes, deflecting 2 passes and making 10 tackles.

Odom was a second team All-City selection at Los Angeles High and was named Most Valuable Player in the Southern League, as a wide receiver and defensive back. As a senior he caught 51 passes for 818 yards and 10 TD's and also intercepted 7 passes. Against Fremont he caught 5 straight passes in the last two minutes to set up the TD and two-point conversion that won the game, 20-19. He was also the all-league shortshop for the baseball team.

Away from football, Odom, an ethnic studies major, enjoys fishing, dancing and riding his bike. He was born in Jonesboro, La. "My three favorite athletes," he says, "are Paul Warfield, because of his moves; Gus Williams, because of his quickness and Steve Garvey, because he's a hitter."

(35) ROBIN ROBINSON — 6-1, 185, 22, Sr.

A reserve at both safety and cornerback as a 1975 sophomore, Robinson sat out last season with a badly separated shoulder.

He started one game (Oregon State) in 1975 and played 26 minutes before a badly sprained shoulder knocked him out for the season after eight games. Robin made half a dozen tackles, broke up 2 passes, recovered a fumble and returned 4 kickoffs for a 25.3 average with a long of 31.

Robinson played on USC's last JV team in 1973, but was redshirted in 1974. An All-Bay League selection at Centennial High as a defensive back and wide receiver, Robin was also the 1973 CIF 4-A 440 champ, winning in 48.7. In 1972 he anchored Centennial's 440-yard relay team which also won the CIF title. Robin has a lifetime 440 best of 46.9 on a mile relay leg.

(7) DENNIS THURMAN — 5-11, 173, 21, Sr.

"Dennis Thurman," says John Robinson, "might be the best safety USC has ever had."

The Trojans' only returning All-American, Thurman had a remarkable season in 1976. He was not only a consensus All-American (first team AP, Football Writers and Walter Camp, second team UPI), but also led the Pac-8 in interceptions with 8, led the Trojan secondary in tackles with 80, led the entire defense in minutes played with 287 and led the nation in interception return yards with 170.

Those 8 interceptions also stood Thurman third in the country, his average per return was 21.3, and in one stretch he picked off passes in seven straight games.

"Dennis is truly a great player," says Robinson. "He's the best I've ever been around as a pass defender, an outstanding tackler and without question the best overall leader I've seen in a secondary. Not only was he brilliant last year, but he was continuing to improve in spring practice."

Against UCLA last fall, as the Trojans won the right to the Rose Bowl, Thurman snapped a scoreless tie by picking a fumble from Theotis Brown out of the air and racing 47 yards for a touchdown. As a freshman in 1974 he did the same thing to the Bruins, nabbing a fumble before it hit the ground and sprinting 85 yards to a touchdown.

A bright, gifted athlete, Dennis also called signals for the secondary, recovered 4 fumbles, broke up 4 other passes and stood fourth on the entire team in tackles with those 80. He had 15 against Stanford — 13 of them unassisted — and 13 against Purdue. He was also first team UPI and AP All-Coast and All-Pac-8.

As a freshman and sophomore Thurman was an athlete from another era — going both ways in both 1974 and 75. He started three games at flanker for injured Shelton Diggs in 1974 and started two each at flanker and safety in 1975, before Robinson moved him permanently to defense.

"I didn't mind playing two positions, but I'm more comfortable with one," he says. "I now know exactly what I have to do on Saturday. Before, I'd practice all week at one position and often play another in a game — having 5 minutes to get ready instead of 5 days.

"But coach McKay felt it was important that I do it, and I enjoyed it because I was helping the team. I figured I should make the sacrifice. I'm just glad I didn't have to do it for four years.

"If you're ever going to be exceptional at anything, you have to concentrate on it — and on it alone."

In his two seasons as a two-way athlete Thurman ran 7 times for 61 yards (8.7 average), caught 3 passes for 55 (18.3 average) and also returned punts and kickoffs. His longest scrimmage run was a 29-yard reverse against Washington State in 1975.

In 1976 Thurman was also USC's leading punt returner, taking 17 back 68 yards with a long return of 16.

At Santa Monica High, Thurman was the 1973 All-CIF 4-A second team quarterback, passing for 500 yards and 5 TD's and running for more than 800 with 11 TD's and a 7.8 rushing average. He also played safety and returned punts 75 and 60 yards for scores.

He was also an All-CIF 4-A pick in basketball, averaging 17.2 points a game as a guard, played outfield for the baseball team and was Prep Magazine's CIF Athlete of the Year in 1974.

A journalism major, Thurman tutored Spanish-speaking first graders one day a week during his junior year, as part of the Joint Educational Project. It was a second-year Spanish elective, and he taught the children reading in English, along with addition and subtraction.

"It was very challenging," he said, "and I'm glad I did it. I learned a lot about children, a lot about teachers and had fun besides."

(23) HERB WARD — 5-10, 185, 20, Jr.

One of three members of San Francisco City College's defense to transfer to USC last spring, Ward goes into fall drills listed as No. 2 left corner behind Ricky Odom.

"Herb has great speed and great natural ability," says John Robinson, "and he'll be an outstanding cornerback here. He needs experience, however, and he must refine that natural talent before he can become a success."

Ward, who runs the 40 in 4.5, was an explosive punt returner at San Francisco, leading the Golden Gate Conference in 1976 with 324 yards on only 15 runbacks (21.6 average). He ran three back for touchdowns in his two-year career, including an 85-yarder against San Jose City College, and also ran two interceptions back for TD's.

In two seasons, Ward totaled 88 tackles, 6 interceptions, 16 pass deflections and recovered two fumbles. He was a first team All-Golden Gate Conference choice in 1976 and was Northern California JC Player of the Week for his game against San Mateo in 1975.

Herb also placed sixth in California in the JC decathlon in 1975, high jumped 6-10 and started as a guard on the basketball team.

At Balboa High in San Francisco Ward was a flanker and defensive back, winning All City honors and also starring in basketball and track. He's a business major.

FRESHMAN SKETCHES

(27) BRAD ANDERSON — Wide Receiver, 6-0, 145

Nicknamed "The Blade", he's the lightest player recruited by USC in many years. But he's a gifted athlete with 4.5 speed in the 40 and has received extra coaching from some experts — his father, George, is the Oakland Raiders' head trainer, and Brad has spent five summers at the Raiders' training camps to learn the art of pass receiving from assistant coach Tom Flores and receivers Fred Biletnikoff and Cliff

Branch . . . caught 46 passes for 804 yards, a 17.5 yard average, and 12 touchdowns as a senior to help Pinole High School to its second consecutive North Coast Section 4-A championship . . . in the first playoff game — playing only the first half — he caught 7 passes for 107 yards and 2 TD's and in the championship game he had 7 receptions for 90 yards and 2 TD's including the winning score . . . won every first team honor in Northern California including All-Northern California, All-Bay Area, All-East Bay and All-Richmond-Berkeley Athletic League and was honorable mention on both the Scholastic Coach and Joe Namath Prep Magazine All-Americas . . . in track he won league title in the 120 yard high hurdles with a best of 14.3.

(19) GREG BRADY — Quarterback, 6-3, 205

The Arizona Player of the Year, he led Coronado High School in Scottsdale to an undefeated (13-0) state championship campaign . . . selected as Quarterback of the Year in the nation by Joe Namath Prep Magazine and also named to the Parade and Scholastic Coach All-America teams . . . the team captain, his squad became known as "The Brady Bunch" . . . as a senior he passed for 1323 yards despite missing extensive playing time due to an early season shoulder injury . . . accounted for 250 yards with 16 completions of 23 attempts in one game . . . also played first base on the baseball team . . . older brothers Phil and Jim were All-State quarterbacks in Arizona and both played for Montreal in the Canadian League with Phil, an All-Canadian League selection, playing for Denver, too.

(89) HOBY BRENNER — Tight End, 6-4, 210

Performing on a 3-5-1 Fullerton High School team, he played several positions — fullback, tailback, split end on offense and linebacker and defensive line on defense . . . named to the All-Orange League first team . . . carried the ball 103 times for 496 yards, a 4.8 average, caught 23 passes for 299 yards and scored 13 TD's . . . also made All-League as a center in basketball and was a shot putter on the track team.

(58) STEVE BUSICK — Linebacker, 6-3, 210

Leading tackler on an outstanding defensive team, Temple City High School, which won CIF 3-A title with 21-0 win over Villa Park in the championship game . . . named to the honorable mention All-America of Joe Namath Prep Magazine, the All-CIF 3-A first team on defense and All-Rio Hondo League . . . ran 4.8 for the 40 . . . Selected to play in the Shrine All-Star game.

(76) JACK CAMPBELL — Offensive Lineman, 6-6, 175

Named to the first teams of the All-CIF 4-A offense and All-South Bay and All-Bay League for league co-champion West Torrance High School as well as honorable mention All-America by Joe Namath Prep Magazine . . . biggest player in the history of West Torrance High . . . nicknamed "Cookie" because he loves cookies . . . Chosen to play in the Shrine All-Star game.

(2) JAY CHAMPLAIN — Wide Receiver-Punter, 6-3, 175

Might well have been the leading punter in the CIF last season (no section-wide punting statistics are kept) with a 42.2 yard average on 33 punts for 1392 yards . . . led St. Francis High School in receiving with 25 catches for 635 yards and four TD's, and would have caught more except the starting quarterback was injured midway during the year . . . also was the starting safety for three years and was named to the All-CIF 4-A second team as a defensive back, All-San Gabriel Valley and All-Del Rey League . . . won his team's Iron Man trophy for the most minutes played . . . made 5 of 7 field goal tries in two years with longest from 28 yards out . . . played basketball, track and baseball in high school, too.

(79) DAVID CORSINOTTI — Defensive Lineman, 6-4, 245

Double and triple teamed every game as a defensive tackle last year, he led Riordan High School of San Francisco in tackles with 75 and sacks with 13 and forced teams to run away from him . . . selected to the All-West Catholic Athletic League first team, playing for a 3-5-1 squad . . . strength is his attribute, he's bench pressed 425 pounds.

MIKE DAVIS — Tailback, 5-11, 170

Comes from San Bernardino High School which has given USC such standouts as Shelton Diggs and Ron Bush, along with current Trojan Eddie Catoe . . . led his team in rushing the last two years with 1100 yards in an abbreviated senior season when he was injured . . . also was a sprinter on the track team with bests of 9.7 in the 100 and 49.8 in the 440 . . . only named to the All-Ivy League second team as a senior, having missed two league games because of an injury.

(42) RON LOTT — Defensive Back, 6-3, 192

A tremendous all around athlete, he has been a varsity letterman in three sports for three years and made All-Citrus Belt League at three different positions in his three football seasons at Eisenhower High School in Rialto . . . capped his career by being selected to every All-America team — Parade, Coach & Athlete, Scholastic Coach and Joe Namath Magazines — as a senior . . . named Citrus Belt Player of the Year and chosen to the All-CIF 4-A first team as a defensive back last year, too . . . as a junior he caught 43 passes for 890 yards as a wide receiver and was switched to quarterback his senior season, completing 50 of 101 passes for 794 yards and rushing for 947 yards for 1741 yards total offense . . . on defense he intercepted 21 passes in his three years . . . in one game against Fontana he had two interceptions, 18 unassisted and 22 assisted tackles from his safety position . . . selected All-Citrus Belt League in basketball three years and two years in baseball, giving him a total of eight All-League honors in three high school seasons . . . selected to play in the Shrine All-Star game.

(39) DOUG MacKENZIE — Fullback, 5-11, 210

Leading ball carrier for Channel League champion San Marcos High School with 920 yards on 160 carries and eight TD's in 10 games, a 5.75 average per carry . . . the third San Marcos player to join the Trojans the last two years, following Vic Jackson and Allen Pugh in 1976 . . . named to the honorable mention All-America of Joe Namath Magazine and All-Channel League and was chosen as the outstanding back on his team . . . San Marcos finished with a 7-3 record, losing in the first round of the 4-A playoffs . . . also was league shot put champion with a best of 57-4½.

(44) ERIC SCOGGINS — Defensive Back, 6-3, 190

An All-CIF 3-A first team selection as a defensive back and honorable mention choice on the Joe Namath Magazine All-America, his Inglewood High School coach, Blayne Wallis, believes Eric could have started at any position on the team . . . an all-purpose performer, he started at quarterback three years and defensive back two seasons . . . rushed for 753 yards on 157 carries, a 4.6 average and 4 TD's and completed 51 of 98 passes for 912 yards and 10 TD's on offense and intercepted 7 passes and made 54 tackles on defense to earn Ocean League Player of the Year honors as a senior . . . served as team captain and was the punter, too, with a 38.0 average . . . a two year varsity starter in basketball . . . can bench press 285 pounds and run the 40 in 4.5 . . . selected to play in the Shrine All-Star game.

(80) DENNIS SMITH — Defensive Back-Wide Receiver, 6-2, 180

The most honored of the Trojan recruits, he was named the Best Defensive Back in the nation by Joe Namath Prep Magazine and chosen CIF 4-A Co-Player of the Year (with Randy Hertel) . . . a tremendous all around athlete, he set a state high jump record of 7-2 — breaking Dwight Stones' mark — to win the state meet title . . . made the Coach & Athlete and Scholastic Coach All-America teams, too . . . had 33 receptions for 777 yards, a 23.5 average, and 11 TD's on offense and three interceptions — teams wouldn't throw to his area — as a strong safety on defense for Santa Monica High School . . . picked off 9 enemy throws when he was an All-CIF second team pick as a junior . . . besides his record-breaking performance in the state track meet, he won the CIF Southern Section and Masters meets last spring and was second in the Junior Olympics in 1976 in the high jump . . . selected to play in the Shrine All-Star game.

1976 GAME SUMMARIES

Game 1 — September 11, Los Angeles Coliseum Missouri 46, USC 25

Missouri	13	17	9	7 — 46
USC	7	3	7	8 — 25

Missouri, which also knocked off Ohio State and Nebraska in 1976, spoiled USC's opener and the coaching debut of John Robinson in stunning the Trojans.

The defeat was the worst in USC history for an opening game, the other being a 27-7 loss under John McKay to Georgia Tech in 1961. It was also the most points scored against the Trojans in an opener and the fourth highest total against a USC team ever.

Tailback Curtis Brown scored three touchdowns — one on a 95-yard kickoff return — as the Tigers roared to a 30-10 halftime lead. USC never recovered.

The Trojan offense, statistically one of the best in the country all season long, piled up 452 net yards and 22 first downs. Heisman Trophy candidate Ricky Bell began his year-long, head-to-head duel with Pittsburgh's Tony Dorsett by gaining 172 yards on 29 carries for one touchdown. And reserve tailback Charles White, the freshman sensation from San Fernando, scored two touchdowns, including a 79-yard scamper, the longest Trojan run all season.

Vince Evans, the much criticized quarterback of a year ago, completed 10 of 18 passes, with no interceptions, for 154 yards, and also produced touchdown drives of 84 and 89 yards.

But the Missouri offense did even better (486 yards and 23 first downs) and scored three times as a result of USC mistakes. Trojan turnovers — a bad snap on a punt attempt and two fumbles — directly led to 17 of Missouri's points, giving the Tigers the ball on the USC 22, 23 and 9-yard lines.

In addition, the Trojans gave up Brown's kickoff return for a touchdown and fumbled one of their own drives away at the Missouri 19.

When Brown wasn't running, Tiger quarterback Steve Pisarkiewicz was riddling the USC secondary for 171 yards and three touchdowns.

Game 2 — September 18, Eugene, Oregon

USC 53, Oregon 0

USC	12	13	14	14 — 53
Oregon	0	0	0	0 — 0

John Robinson got his first win, Ricky Bell scored four touchdowns, and the entire USC defense redeemed itself as the Trojans rebounded from their embarrassing opener to rout Oregon and begin their drive to the Rose Bowl.

Bell carried the ball 32 times for 193 yards — giving him a nation-leading total of 365 after two games — despite sitting out the entire fourth quarter. His first touchdown, a spectacular, 63-yarder just 56 seconds into the game, came with the help of a downfield block by fullback Dave Farmer. Bell later added TD runs of 8, 3, and 12 yards.

At quarterback Vince Evans continued to show improvement, completing 9 of 14 passes for 107 yards. His back-up, Rob Hertel, was 5 of 8 for 37 yards and one touchdown, while Glen Walker booted field goals of 30 and 32 yards. The Trojans rolled up 472 yards and ran 84 plays.

But the big story of the game was the Trojan defense.

Two series after Bell went 63 yards, safety Dennis Thurman intercepted a Jack Henderson pass and returned it 34 yards to the Duck eight-yard line, where Bell went around right end for the score. On the first play of the second quarter, cornerback Ricky Odom picked off another Henderson pass that was deflected by tackle Gary Jeter, setting up a Walker field goal.

And with four minutes remaining in the first half, linebacker Rod Martin recovered an Oregon fumble, leading to Bell's third TD and giving the Trojans an insurmountable, 25-0 halftime lead.

USC's defense set up two more touchdowns in the second half — Mike Robinson recovered a fumble leading to Mosi Tatupu's one-yard plunge, and Ray Peters recovered another loose ball leading to Hertel's five-yard toss to Dan Burns.

All told, USC intercepted five passes and recovered five fumbles, held Oregon to 128 total yards, and never allowed the Ducks further than the Trojan 43.

USC	7	0	14	10 — 31
Purdue	7	0	6	0 — 13

Vince Evans, remembered in 1975 by one writer as the quarterback who "couldn't throw a football into the Grand Canyon while standing at the rim," silenced his critics in West Lafayette, Indiana as the Trojans won their second game in a row on the road.

Evans, behind the fine protection of offensive linemen Bill Gay, Donnie Hickman, Gary Bethel, John Schuhmacher, Brad Budde, Pat Howell and Otis Page, completed 13 of 16 passes (81%) for 168 yards and one touchdown. He directed scoring drives of 64, 53 and 56 yards the first three times USC had the ball in the third quarter to break open a 7-7 tie.

Once again USC showed the offensive balance John Robinson said he would strive for, rushing for 304 of the 472 total yards. Ricky Bell carried 37 times — setting a Ross-Ade Stadium record — for 177 yards and one touchdown against a team which held him to 89 yards in 1975.

At fullback, Mosi Tatupu gained 75 yards and scored two TD's (on runs of 1 and 27 yards) on seven carries, while Dave Farmer picked up 56 yards — including a 48-yarder that led to USC's go-ahead touchdown — on just three carries.

The USC defense gave up 392 yards, but allowed only two touchdowns and stopped Boilermaker drives on the Trojan 3, 15 and 17-yard lines. Inside backers Eric Williams and Clay Matthews each made 17 tackles.

Williams set up Glen Walker's 44-yard field goal with an interception on the Purdue 23 and returned another interception 43 yards. Dennis Thurman, who was in on 13 tackles, set up USC's first TD with a fumble recovery and also had an interception.

Split end Randy Simmrin caught four passes for 69 yards and one touchdown — a four-yard scoring strike — and flanker Shelton Diggs grabbed four tosses for 53 yards.

Game 4 — October 2, Los Angeles Coliseum

USC 55, Iowa 0

USC	7	28	0	20 — 55

"I've said all along we have two quarterbacks," proclaimed John Robinson. Only one week after Vince Evans turned in his best performance ever as a Trojan, Rob Hertel came off the bench to throw a school-record-tying four touchdowns as USC pounded Iowa, a team which had upset Penn State the week before.

The victory snapped a three-game Coliseum losing streak for the Trojans (Stanford and UCLA in 1975 and Missouri in 1976), and marked USC's biggest margin of victory since 1931 when a Howard Jones-coached team defeated Georgia, 60-0.

Evans, who had the flu, opened the game and hit 8 of 15 passes for 94 yards, including a 17-yard scoring toss to flanker Shelton Diggs.

Hertel (10 of 13 for 167 yards) had scoring throws of 33 and 9 yards to split end Randy Simmrin, 16 to tight end Dan Burns and 20 to Diggs. Hertel joined Pete Beathard, Craig Fertig, Troy Winslow and Pat Haden in the USC record book.

The Trojans were just as effective on the ground, amassing 251 yards to give them an incredible 512 total yards. Ricky Bell, playing just one series into the second half, ran for 119 yards on 28 carries and scored twice on one-yard dives despite playing with a sore shoulder.

His understudy, Charles White, carried 15 times for 120 yards and scored on a 60-yard gallop late in the fourth period.

The USC defense, which directly set up 28 points, had its finest game all year in posting its second shut-

USC'S ATHLETIC HERITAGE

USC's athletic excellence is recognized throughout the world of intercollegiate athletics.

Trojan teams have captured more NCAA championships — 61 — than any university in the nation and the university's football team has been declared mythical national champions on seven occasions.

Here is the up-to-date list of USC national titles and the coaches of the winning teams.

out. Playing without starters Gary Jeter, David Lewis and Ricky Odom, the Trojans held the Hawkeyes to just 77 yards and six first downs. Iowa had a minus 11 net yards passing.

Fumble recoveries by tackle Walt Underwood (at the Iowa 20), outside linebacker Rod Martin (Iowa 25), and rover Clint Strozier (Iowa 30) and an interception by outside backer Ed Gutierrez (run back 38 yards to the Hawkeye 11) led to USC touchdowns.

Game 5 — October 9, Seattle, Washington

USC 23, Washington State 14

USC	0	14	0	9 — 23
Washington St.	0	7	0	7 — 14

There are no adjectives to describe Ricky Bell's performance against Washington State; the numbers speak for themselves. Bell gained an incredible 347 yards on 51 carries, breaking O. J. Simpson's USC record of rushing attempts and eclipsing the Pac-8 mark of 50 carries and 299 yards by Oregon State's Bill Enyart in 1968.

He came within four yards of breaking the NCAA single-game record by Michigan State's Eric Allen (350 in 1971) for yards rushing, and pushed his 1976, five-game total to an amazing 1,008 yards.

Bell had an opportunity to break the NCAA mark with 2:01 remaining. But on first down Dave Farmer fumbled to the Cougars after a 20-yard run.

The Trojans needed every inch of Bell's total as they struggled to defeat Washington State and stay unbeaten in the Pacific 8.

The Cougars, inspired in the new indoor stadium, the Kingdome, received an outstanding offensive effort of their own by quarterback Jack Thompson. With 356 yards, he shattered the WSU total offense record for one game, while completing 26 of 50 passes for 341 yards and one touchdown.

USC jumped to a 14-0 advantage midway through the second quarter — on a one-yard plunge by Bell and a 55-yard pass play from Vince Evans to Shelton Diggs — but led only 14-7 after three periods.

USC turnovers — two fumbles and an interception — stopped USC on the Washington State 49 and the Trojan 43 and 37-yard lines. And Glen Walker missed field goal attempts of 53, 28, and 44 yards.

On the first play of the final quarter, Thompson hit flanker Brian Kelly for 23 yards and a touchdown to tie the score at 14-14.

But then the Trojan defense, as it did so many times during the year, caused three turnovers, setting up a USC field goal and touchdown and stopping Washington State's late bid.

With 11 minutes to play, tackle Walt Underwood recovered a fumble on the Cougar 11-yard line, and three plays later Walker booted a 26-yard field goal for the go-ahead points.

Thompson then moved WSU to the Cougar 40, but Ron Bush picked off a pass intended for Kelly on the USC 45. From there the Trojans drove 55 yards in nine plays for a TD, with Bell, the nation's leading scorer, going the final nine yards.

The Cougars got the ball back twice more. But outside backer Rod Martin recovered a Thompson fumble on a first down at the USC 11 to stop one drive, and Underwood batted down a Thompson pass on fourth and six from the USC 28 to halt another.

Game 6 — October 23, Los Angeles Coliseum

USC 56, Oregon State 0

Oregon State	0	0	0	0 — 0
USC	14	23	13	6 — 56

On the day when Ricky Bell suffered the first of several injuries, freshman Charles White took over as the Trojans routed Oregon State on Homecoming Day to keep pace with UCLA in the Race for the Roses.

It was a sad homecoming for Beaver coach Craig Fertig, who returned to the Coliseum after 13 years as a USC quarterback and assistant coach. The Beavers, who had upset California a week earlier, became the second half of the Trojans' 109-0 annihilation of the Oregon schools.

Bell ripped off 68 yards in just six carries, including a 45-yard run that set up his own one-yard touchdown run which opened the scoring, but left the game late in the first quarter after twice bruising his hip.

With Bell hurt, White came in and rushed for 107 yards (his second 100-yard game of the year) on 18 carries, caught two passes for 51 yards and scored four touchdowns. His TD's came on runs of 35, 1 and 5 yards and a 34-yard pass from Vince Evans.

For the third Saturday in a row, the USC offense, with 526 yards, amassed over 500 yards.

Meanwhile, the Trojan defense, in posting its third shutout, yielded only 155 yards and allowed the Beavers to cross midfield only once—to the USC 42 in the fourth quarter.

Big defensive plays set up five USC touchdowns and a field goal:

— Linebacker Rod Martin recovered a fumble on the Oregon State 35, setting up a TD.

— Tackle Gary Jeter recovered a fumble on the Beaver 27, leading to a field goal.

— Safety Dennis Thurman intercepted a pass, for the fifth game in a row, on the USC 45 (set up TD).

— Reserve linebacker Garry Cobb intercepted a pass and returned it seven yards to the OSU 33 (TD).

— Reserve defensive back Mark Spino intercepted a pass and returned it 27 yards to the Beaver 8 (TD).

— Reserve defensive back Carter Hartwig intercepted a pass and returned it 15 yards to the OSU 25 (TD).

Game 7 — October 30, Los Angeles Coliseum
USC 20, California 6

California	0	3	0	3 — 6
USC	7	6	7	0 — 20

USC shook off another injury to Ricky Bell and used a stifling defense to stop California, the team which started the Trojans' four-game losing streak in 1975, and remained atop the Pacific 8 standings.

In winning their fourth straight conference game and sixth overall, the Trojans struck explosively for three touchdowns and relied on another outstanding effort by the defense, which extended to eight quarters its playing time without allowing a touchdown by holding the Bears to two field goals.

California, the NCAA total offense leader in 1975, gained 219 yards — and only 18 on the ground — compared to 376 for the Trojans.

Cal's quarterback, the late Joe Roth, was averaging 15 completions and 189 yards coming into the contest, but was pressured all day long by USC's front line of Gary Jeter, Harold Steele, Walt Underwood and Vinnie Van Dyke. Before going out midway through the fourth quarter, Roth hit only 12 of 27 passes for 109 yards and no touchdowns.

The USC victory was marred by the injury to Bell, who was already slowed by a painful hip pointer, and then would up spraining an ankle and coming out of the game in the third quarter. Bell carried 24 times for only 78 yards and scored USC's first touchdown on a four-yard sweep.

Once again, Charles White filled in admirably and was the game's leading rusher with 91 yards on 14 carries. Vince Evans was brilliant, also, hitting 8 of 19 for 120 yards and one touchdown and running 12 times, mostly on scrambles, for 33 yards.

USC, slowed by a total of three turnovers and 10 penalties measuring 109 yards, was struggling at 7-3 with 56 seconds left in the first half. But then Evans passed to Randy Simmrin, who made a leaping catch at the Cal 27 — the play went 55 yards — to set up Evans' 8-yard run for a 13-3 halftime lead. Vince broke four tackles on the run.

The Bears were still in it early in the third quarter and were threatening on the USC 34. But on second down and 10, All-American Gary Jeter chased down Roth for a 19-yard loss, and Cal's offense was never the same.

Safety Dennis Thurman intercepted a pass for the sixth straight game. Linebackers Eric Williams and Clay Matthews had 15 and 12 tackles, respectively.

Game 8 — November 6, Palo Alto, California
USC 48, Stanford 24

USC	14	20	7	7 — 48
Stanford	3	0	7	14 — 24

With Ricky Bell standing along the sidelines in street clothes, USC was forced to go to the air, and quarterbacks Vince Evans (four) and Rob Hertel (one) responded by throwing five touchdown passes as the Trojans eliminated Stanford from the Rose Bowl race before 76,500.

The Cardinals, coming in with three straight conference victories and trailing the Trojans and UCLA by one game, were caught off-guard by a fierce USC aerial attack that stormed to a 34-3 halftime lead. The Trojans took the national lead in total offense for the second time during the season.

USC, outdistancing Stanford 461 to 365, led 48-10 with five and a half minutes remaining in the game.

Evans, who was 7 of 15 for 131 yards, threw all four (matching USC's school record) of his scoring TD's in the first half — three to flanker Shelton Diggs (measuring 56, 21 and 23 yards) and one to wide receiver Randy Simmrin (for 9 yards).

Hertel (2 of 6 for 54 yards) passed 10 yards to reserve split end Mike Robinson for a TD in the third period.

John Robinson decided to rest Bell, who was limping with his sprained ankle, and went with the freshman, Charles White. In the first start of his college career, White carried 23 times for 137 yards and two touchdowns. His TD's came on runs of 2 and 3 yards.

The USC defense extended its touchdown-less quarters to 10 before Stanford, on a two-yard run by quarterback Guy Benjamin, scored on the last play of the third period.

The Trojans held Stanford's potent passing combination of Benjamin to Tony Hill to just one completion. Benjamin, who had hit 58% of his passes for 1,548 yards, was 16 of 32 for 144 yards and no touchdowns.

Cornerback Ricky Odom intercepted three passes. He made a diving grab at the Cardinal 42 to set up USC's second touchdown, then ran interceptions back 25 yards to the Cardinal 23 and 13 yards to the Cardinal 15. The last one led to USC's fourth TD.

Safety Dennis Thurman, who also led all tacklers in the game with 15 (13 unassisted), sprinted 28 yards to the Stanford 8 with his interception — the seventh straight game he had picked off a pass — to set up another Trojan touchdown.

Game 9 — November 13, Los Angeles Coliseum

USC 20, Washington 3

Washington	3	0	0	0 — 3
USC	0	7	10	3 — 20

The Trojans ended what John Robinson kiddingly called the "exhibition season" in the Coliseum, slipping past Washington to set up their Rose Bowl showdown with UCLA.

USC, obviously looking ahead to the Bruin battle, produced a season-low two touchdowns, but combined those with two Glen Walker field goals and a stingy defense to win its eighth game in a row.

Ricky Bell, still nursing his injuries, carried only 12 times for 26 yards and one touchdown. But his yardage total was enough to move Bell (with 3,431) up to No. 2 on the Pacific-8 career rushing ladder, passing O. J. Simpson (with 3,423).

Charles White had 65 yards on 16 tries and Mosi Tatupu added 36 yards on five carries, as the Trojan running attack picked up only 148 yards, their second-lowest output of the year.

Although Vince Evans missed his first five attempts, he wound up completing 4 of 12 for 132 yards and did the most damage against a stubborn Husky defense with long passes of 46, 51 and 24 yards. Evans was knocked out of the game in the third quarter when he was pushed out of bounds and banged his head on a timer's table.

Rob Hertel finished up for the Trojans, connecting on 3 of 4 for 72 yards.

USC wound up with 352 yards; the Huskies with 193.

Washington led 3-0 after one period before Evans marched USC 75 yards on two long tosses to Shelton Diggs for the go-ahead touchdown. The first Evans-to-Diggs completion covered 51 yards, and it set up their 24-yard scoring strike.

Another Evans bomb, a 46-yarder to Randy Simmrin, led to Bell's 2-yard touchdown run in the third quarter.

Walker closed out the Trojan scoring with field goals of 42 and 26 yards. The second was set up by a 38-yard, Hertel-to-Diggs pass.

Washington crossed midfield only five times, as USC stopped drives on the Trojan 40, 19, 48 and 11-yard lines after the Huskies' first quarter field goal. That 3-0 Washington lead was the only time USC was behind in the last 10 regular season games.

Five USC defenders — Rod Martin (15), Eric Williams (14), Clay Matthews (11), Gary Jeter (11) and Rich Dimler (10) — reached double figures in tackles.

Game 10 — November 20, Los Angeles Coliseum USC 24, UCLA 14

USC	0	7	3	14 — 24
UCLA	0	0	0	14 — 14

USC, before a screaming crowd of 90,519 in the Coliseum, wore down UCLA with a combination of Ricky Bell, Vince Evans and defense to defeat the Bruins, earning a trip to the Rose Bowl for the eighth time in 11 years.

In finishing their Pac-8 season with a perfect 7-0 mark, the Trojans made John Robinson the first rookie coach to win the conference and go to Pasadena since Stanford's Chuck Taylor did it 25 years ago.

And the win marked the sixth time in a row — when the Rose Bowl berth was on the line for both teams — that the Trojans knocked off UCLA.

Although still not 100%, Bell looked like the Bell of old as he carried 36 times for 167 yards, including 120 yards and a touchdown in the second half alone.

Evans, remembered for missing on 14 straight passes against the Bruins in 1975, completed 7 of 13 for 79 yards. He also ran 14 times for 63 yards (he was thrown for losses totaling 29 yards) and scrambled 36 yards on a quarterback draw for USC's last touchdown.

And then there was the other side of the Trojan line.

USC's swarming defense had shut out three previous opponents and kept five from scoring touchdowns, but they were never better than against the Bruins.

— All-American safety Dennis Thurman picked a Theotis Brown fumble out of the air in the second quarter and raced 47 yards for the only touchdown of the first half.

— Outside linebacker Rod Martin outwrestled a Bruin receiver for a Jeff Dankworth pass and returned it 17 yards to the Bruin 35 to set up USC's last TD.

— UCLA, averaging 37 points and 361 yards rushing a-game, ranked second in the country in both categories. Against the Trojans, they rushed for only 140 yards and did not score until four minutes remained in the game.

— The farthest UCLA proceeded in the first 3½ quarters was the USC 34. In the second quarter the Bruins never advanced past the UCLA 44, and in the third quarter they never got past their own 25.

— In the first 24 minutes of the second half, when USC was winning the game by increasing its lead from 7-0 to 24-0, the Trojan defense did not give up a first down.

Mixing the running of Bell, Evans, and Mosi Tatupu with an occasional Evans pass, USC put together scoring drives of 72 yards (culminated by Glen Walker's 42-yard field goal), 61 yards (culminated by Bell's 1-yard dive) and 35 yards (culminated by Evans' 36-yard scamper) to balloon its lead to 24 points with 10:49 remaining to play.

With 3:59 on the clock, Brown ran nine yards for UCLA's first TD, and after Dankworth hit Ricky Brown for a two-point conversion, the Bruins recovered an onside kick. Five plays later Dankworth snuck over from the one, but was piled up short of the goal on another two-point attempt, and the Trojans were left safe with a 10-point lead.

"We're back where we belong — in Pasadena," said Robinson.

Game 11 — November 27, Los Angeles Coliseum

USC 17, Notre Dame 13

Notre Dame	0	0	0	13 — 13
USC	0	7	7	3 — 17

It was less than artistic, but USC used two big pass plays to squeak past Notre Dame in the 50th anniversary game of the greatest intersectional rivalry in college football.

Probably suffering somewhat of a letdown from the emotionally-packed UCLA game, the Trojans nonetheless ended the season by winning their 10th straight game after an opening loss to Missouri. The Trojan victory was their seventh in the last 10 years over the Irish; USC bettered its record to 7-1-2 since being clobbered 51-0 in 1966.

Each side fumbled six times in the game, USC losing the ball once and the Irish twice. Notre Dame also had three passes intercepted (USC had one), while the Trojans were penalized 8 times for 110 yards.

For only the second time all year, USC was out-gained in total yards, 352-273. The Irish also had more first downs, 23-15.

Ricky Bell, in what John Robinson called "his finest hour," gained only 75 yards on 21 carries, but he was pressed into playing fullback for the first time in three years when Dave Farmer (re-injuring his right leg), Mosi Tatupu (sprained knee) and Vic Jackson (knee) all got hurt.

"This was his (Bell's) last chance (before a national television audience) to go out in a blaze of glory," said Robinson. "Yet he switched and played fullback and played with enthusiasm."

Once again it was the Trojan defense, making the big plays when USC needed it most, that made the difference in the game.

The Irish were in scoring position six times — reaching the USC 32 in the first quarter, the USC 14, 23 and 32 in the second, the USC 10 in the third, and the USC 32 in the fourth — but were stopped, in order, by a Ron Bush interception, a Bush fumble recovery, a Clay Matthews fumble recovery, a hit by Mike Burns of Al Hunter for a yard loss on fourth down, a missed field goal, and a Clint Strozier interception.

USC, making only one first down in the first 1 1/2 quarters, brought in Rob Hertel late in the second period, and he responded by driving the Trojans 67 yards in 10 plays for the only touchdown of the half.

Hertel completed 6 of 7 passes for 61 yards in the march, culminated by his 6-yard scoring toss to Shelton Diggs.

Vince Evans started the second half, and four plays into the third quarter, he found Randy Simmrin for a TD on a 63-yard, broken-pass play.

Notre Dame cut the margin on a 17-yard pass from quarterback Rusty Lisch to fullback Vagas Ferguson, before Glen Walker booted a 46-yard field goal, his longest of the season.

With four seconds left, Lisch scored from the one-yard line on a keeper, but USC's Howard Studdard recovered an onside kick to ice the game.

Game 12 — January 1, Rose Bowl, Pasadena

USC 14, Michigan 6

Michigan	0	6	0	0 — 6
USC	0	7	0	7 — 14

The Rose Bowl had certainly been their goal, but both USC (ranked third) and Michigan (ranked second) had a shot at the national championship as they met in Pasadena. The Trojans' hard-hitting 14-6 victory moved them up to No. 2 in the final polls, however, as Pitt won in the Sugar Bowl to hang on to No. 1.

This was an impressive win for John Robinson, as he became only the second rookie coach from the Pac-8 to capture a Rose Bowl.

The Trojans outgained the powerful Wolverines, 381-231, ran off seven more first downs, ground out 18 more plays and held Michigan to 217 yards and 33 points UNDER its nation-leading averages. On top of that, USC did it all with Heisman Trophy runnerup Ricky Bell sitting on the bench the last 55 minutes.

Bell was knocked cold on USC's first series when he ran six yards off left end for a first down — and left with just 16 yards on four carries. Into the game came the precocious freshman, Charles White, and he hammered out 114 yards on 32 carries against the Wolverine defense, which stood fifth nationally going into play.

Michigan had also led the country in total offense, scoring, rushing offense and scoring defense.

The Wolverines scored first, driving 50 yards in 12 plays midway through the second quarter, with All-American Rob Lytle getting the TD on a one-yard dive over left guard. His five-yard run to the one set it up.

When Bob Wood tried the conversion, however, Trojan tackle Walt Underwood went up like a basketball player to swat it down.

USC came right back to take a 7-6 halftime lead. From their 20, the Trojans marched 80 yards in a dozen plays, with White running for 35 on 8 carries.

With first and goal on the Wolverines' four, Charlie worked the ball to the one on three carries, and then on fourth down, dove over the center of the line—without the ball. Quarterback Vince Evans, who was to be named Player of the Game, kept it on a one-yard sprint around left end for the TD.

Glen Walker's conversion made it 7-6.

Evans had set up the first score with two completions to flanker Shelton Diggs for 39 yards—Diggs caught 8 passes in the game—and Vince wound up hitting 14 of 20 for 181 yards.

The two teams traded fumbles, interceptions and other mistakes in the second half, until Evans drove the Trojans 58 yards for the TD that practically sewed it up.

His 27-yard toss to split end Randy Simmrin put USC on the Michigan 30, and from the 27, fullback Mosi Tatupu broke several tackles on a 20-yard run to the seven.

On first down White took a pitch and popped through right tackle for the TD. Walker's conversion made it 14-6 with 3:03 left to play.

Michigan stormed back to the USC 17—mostly on quarterback Rick Leach's 32-yard pass to flanker Jim Smith—but the Trojan defense harassed the Wolverine quarterback into two straight incompletions to kill the threat.

Outside linebackers Rod Martin and David Lewis shut down Michigan's explosive outside running attack with 10 tackles each, while linebacker Clay Matthews (8), cornerback Ron Bush (7) and linebacker Eric Williams (6) were also in on several tackles.

TROJANS BETTER DRAFT RECORD

USC bettered its own record last May for players taken in a single pro draft. There were 14 Trojans drafted in the 12 rounds, surpassing the mark of 12 USC players selected in 1974 when the pros had 17 rounds.

Also, senior punter-place kicker Glen Walker was signed before the draft because his class had already graduated.

USC had the first player chosen in the draft, tailback Ricky Bell by Tampa Bay. The last Trojan to be drafted first was O.J. Simpson in 1969.

Two of the Trojans' draftees were reserves, corner back Michael Burns on the sixth round and split end Ken Randle on the seventh.

USC already was represented by more players in the pros than any other university in the nation even before the draft with 37 Trojans on NFL rosters in 1976.

WHY TROJANS?

USC's nickname, "Trojans," originated in 1912. Up to this time the University of Southern California teams were called the Methodists or Wesleyans, nicknames which were not looked upon with favor by university officials.

Warren Bovard, director of athletics and son of university president Dr. George Bovard, asked Los Angeles Times sports editor Owen Bird to select an appropriate nickname.

"At this time, the athletes and coaches of the university were under terrific handicaps," recalled Bird. "They were facing teams that were bigger and better-equipped, yet they had splendid fighting spirit. The name 'Trojans' fitted them."

"I came out with an article prior to a showdown between USC and Stanford in which I called attention to the fighting spirit of USC athletes and named them 'Trojans.' From then on, we used the term 'Trojan' all the time, and it stuck."

"The term 'Trojan' as applied to USC means to me that no matter what the situation, what the odds or what the conditions, the competition must be carried on to the end and those who strive must give all they have and never be weary in doing so."

OUTLAND SALUTE

Ron Yary—1967

Ron Yary is the only USC player to win the Outland Trophy, "the Heisman Trophy for lineman." The Outland award goes to the outstanding lineman in the nation and is selected by the Football Writers Association of America.

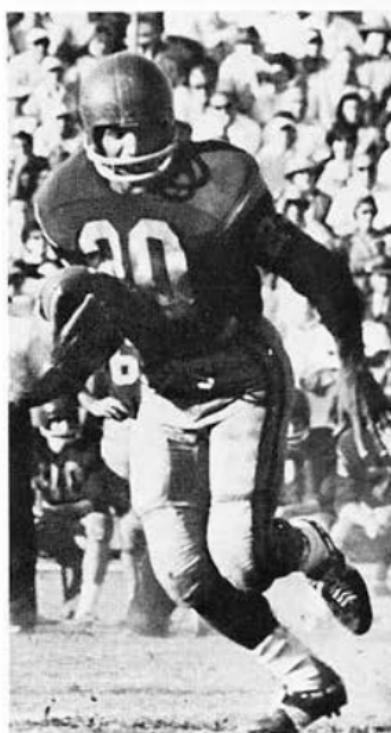

Yary was a two-time consensus All-America offensive tackle for the Trojans and was a unanimous All-America pick in 1967 when he won the Outland. The first player selected in the 1968 pro draft, he is now a perennial All-Pro with the Minnesota Vikings.

HEISMAN SALUTE

Mike Garrett—1965

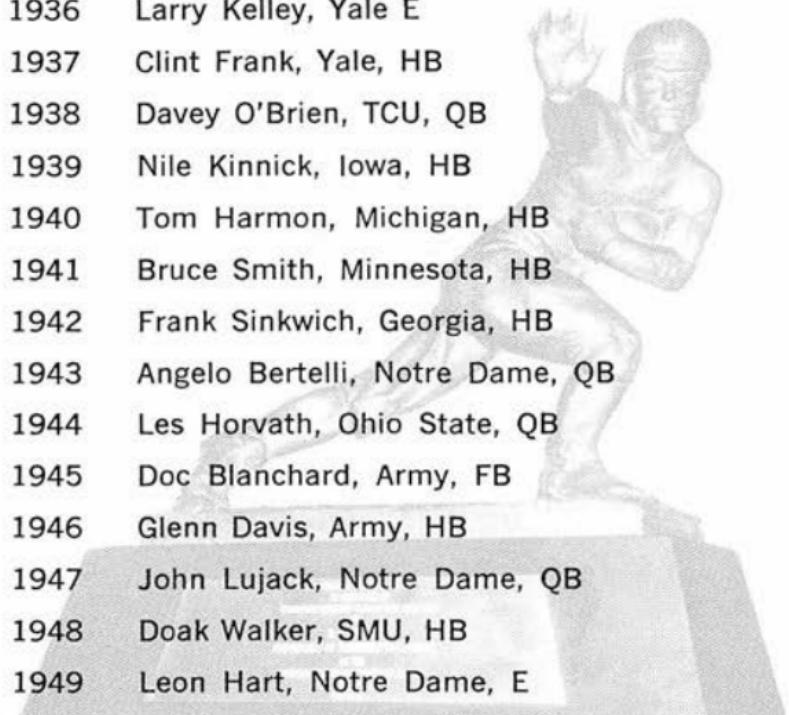

Mike Garrett, USC's first Heisman Trophy winner, concluded his Trojan career on Nov. 27, 1965, against Wyoming. By rushing for 112 yards in that game, Mike established a new NCAA career record of 3221 yards (since bettered).

The popular Garrett won the Heisman Trophy over such outstanding collegians as Howard Twilly of Tulsa, Jim Grabowski of Illinois, Don Anderson of Texas Tech, Floyd Little, Tom Nobis, Bob Griese and Clint Jones.

Garrett and Anthony Davis are the only players in USC history to lead the Trojans in rushing three years.

HEISMAN WINNERS

ALL-TIME BOWL RECORDS

(Members of Pacific-8)

USC has both the most wins and highest winning percentage of any team in the history of bowl games. With their 14-6 conquest of Michigan in the 1977 Rose Bowl game, the Trojans now have 16 bowl wins and a .727 percentage (16-6), best among teams appearing in at least 10 bowl games. Alabama and Georgia Tech each have 14 wins to share second place in victories.

GENERAL INFORMATION

THE UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA

The University of Southern California is the oldest major independent non-sectarian coeducational university in the West. Its diversity of good programs has marked it as one of the most distinguished universities in the world.

Nearly 100 years ago the University came into being with 53 students who attended classes in a single, wooden building that had been constructed, at a cost of $5,060, on land donated by a Catholic, a Jew, and a Protestant. A thousand persons, who represented 10% of the population of Los Angeles, were present for the laying of the cornerstone on September 4, 1880.

The University's Toward Century II program seeks $265 million to help meet USC's educational goals. As an independent institution dependent on private support, many worthwhile opportunities for philanthropy exist at the University of Southern California.

- * USC, one of only 23 private leading research universities in the United States, is a member of the Association of American Universities, the most esteemed organization of academic institutions.
- * Enrollment stands at 24,480, including 11,500 full-time undergraduates; 4,930 full-time graduate or professional students; 2,500 part-time undergraduates; 5,480 part-time graduate or professional students.
- * USC provides southern California with a significant portion of its professionals: 48% of the judges and 40% of the attorneys in Los Angeles County are USC graduates; more than 2,100 physicians, 8,500 engineers, 50% of the pharmacists, 60% of the social workers, dentists and school administrators in southern California earned their degrees at USC.

- * Sponsored research and training programs, totaled more than $50 million last year.
- * USC has a fulltime faculty of 1,535.
- * Included among USC's distinguished alumni are astronauts Neil Armstrong, Alan Bean, James Lovell, and Walter Schirra; Federal Commissioner of Education Ernest L. Boyer; columnist Art Buchwald; U.S. Representative Yvonne Braithwaite Burke; Metropolitan Opera star Marilyn Horne; artist Mary Corita Kent; author Irving Stone; actress Marlo Thomas; symphony conductor Michael Tilson Thomas; actor John Wayne; former CBS-TV Network President Robert D. Wood.

DR. JOHN R. HUBBARD

University President

Dr. John R. Hubbard is the eighth President to serve the University of Southern California. He was elected to the position by a unanimous vote of the Board of Trustees in August of 1970. Two months later he became a USC Trustee.

Dr. Hubbard had been vice president and provost of USC for a year before succeeding Dr. Norman Topping, who became USC's second chancellor after 12 years as the University's chief executive officer.

Dr. Hubbard, a noted historian, came to USC from four years in India climaxed by service as chief education adviser there for the U.S. Agency for International Development.

Prior to that he was dean and professor of European history at Newcomb College of Tulane University from 1953 to 1965.

A specialist in modern British and modern European history, he taught at Tulane from 1949 to 1952, and spent the year of 1948 on the faculty of Louisiana State University and 1952-53 teaching at Yale University. He teaches graduate history students every year.

A graduate of the University of Texas, where he earned three degrees between 1936 and 1950, having served five years during World War II as a naval aviator, Dr. Hubbard also studied at North Texas State University in Denton and The American University in Washington, D.C.

He came out of the Navy as a Lieutenant Commander, having been a flight instructor and patrol plane commander in the Atlantic and Pacific fleets. He won the Distinguished Flying Cross and four Air Medals.

Dr. and Mrs. Hubbard, the former Lucille Luckett of San Angelo, Texas, live in San Marino. They have three daughters, Elisa, a 1973 graduate of the University of California, Berkeley, who has completed work on her Master's degree in International Relations at USC; Melisse, who earned her Baccalaureate and Master's degrees from USC in Social Work, and Kristin, a senior at Stanford.

He is a trustee of the Association of Independent California Colleges and Universities and a member of the Southern California Advisory Board of the Institute of International Education and a Trustee of Scholarships for Children of American Military Personnel.

He is a member of the Commission on Federal Relations of the American Council on Education and a member of the Council on Federal Relations of the Association of American Universities.

DR. NORMAN TOPPING

University Chancellor

After twelve distinguished years as the seventh president of USC, Dr. Norman Topping announced his early retirement for reasons of health in spring, 1970.

Following the selection of Dr. John R. Hubbard to succeed Dr. Topping, the USC Board of Trustees invited the popular former President to remain on campus, serving in the post of University Chancellor. Dr. Topping accepted, and thus continues to serve his Alma Mater. He is the first alumnus to be USC's Chancellor.

The second alumnus to be President of the oldest major coeducational non-sectarian university in the West, Dr. Topping became USC's chief executive officer on Sept. 1, 1958.

He was graduated from USC in 1933 with a bachelor of arts degree and in 1936 with the degree of doctor of medicine.

He was the chief architect of USC's Master Plan for enterprise and excellence in education, announced in 1961 after a two-year study by trustees, administrators and faculty members.

Many distinguished men of learning were attracted to USC during his Presidency and more than $235 million was given to the University, mostly from private sources, for USC's Master Plan, original goal of which was $106 million.

Dr. Topping came to the USC Presidency after a distinguished 16-year career with the U.S. Public Health Service, climaxed by his appointment as an Assistant Surgeon General and associate director of the National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md.

He also was vice president for medical affairs at the University of Pennsylvania six years immediately prior to returning to USC.

Dr. Topping developed the typhus vaccine used in World War II by more than 15,000,000 U.S., Canadian and British servicemen. The vaccine still is in use. Dr. Topping received the Bailey K. Ashford Award in 1943 and the U.S. Typhus Commission Medal in 1945.

Dr. Topping served as President of the Southern California Rapid Transit District for two years, from 1971-73. He is a director of Litton Industries, Getty Oil Co., H. F. Ahmanson & Company, and Transamerica Mutual Funds.

The USC Chancellor received the 1974 Hollzer Award from the Los Angeles Jewish Federation-Council. In 1976, he appeared on the CBS television network in one of the nationally broadcast "Bicentennial Minutes."
